VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1929

WRECKS AND LOSS OF LIFE IN BRITISH GALES

GEN. CURRIE RAPS BOARD ON PENSIONS

Administration of Regulations Must Be One of Sympathetic Justice and Not One of Saving

UNION JACK LOOKS GOOD TO VETERANS

Canadian Corps Not Getting the Merit Due to It for Services Done During Great War

REGINA, Nov. 26.—General Sir Arthur Currie, Dominion President of the Canadian Legion, and former Commander of the Canadian Corps, in a message sent from his sickbed in Montreal and read at this afternoon's session of the annual convention of the Legion, stood forth as champion of the ex-servicemen of Canada in their fight for justice and recognition of their claims.

Just as Earl Haig took the leadership in the battle on behalf of the British war veterans, so the Canadian war leader came out plainly, and with the utmost frankness made a sweeping attack on the entire pensions regulations, and demanded that the national promises made to the men of Canada in their enlistment for active service be fulfilled.

"The time has come," said the message of Sir Arthur, "when the regulations of the Pensions Board must be re-drafted from beginning to end, and when the attitude of the board charged with the administration of the regulations must be one of sympathetic justice and not altogether one of saving."

NOT POLITICAL ISSUE
"We must see to it that the treatment of returned soldiers does not become a political issue, but, unless something is done, it will be hard to control the flow of indignation now welling up in the hearts of those who believe that national promises should be kept, and that justice should be done."

Continuing, Sir Arthur said: "Our aim must be to see to it that the country must be permitted by that country to suffer want because of war disability."

"That word 'disability' brings forcibly to my mind one of the great difficulties. Men are now suffering greatly from disabilities which pensions authorities refuse to admit arose from war service. That is a contention, on their part, which it has made too often. The medical board takes a great deal upon itself when it declares that war service contributed in no way to present disability."

"I contend that almost every man who experienced the hardships of war is paying some penalty. His resistance powers have been impoverished and many of the breakdowns coming comparatively early in life."

U.S. Red Cross Donates $5,000 To Relief Fund

S. T. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 26.—A cheque for $5,034.50 was received by Sir Richard A. Squire, Premier of Newfoundland, from the United States Secretary of State, in the name of the American Red Cross, for relief of those who suffered from the tidal wave at Burin Peninsula last week.

MR. DUNNING SWORN IN TO NEW OFFICE

Following Cabinet Meeting He Gives Up Railways to Take Over Portfolio of Mr. Robb

TEMPORARILY TO HOLD TWO POSTS

OTTAWA, Nov. 26.—Hon. Charles A. Dunning was tonight sworn in as Minister of Finance. The ceremony was carried out before the Governor-General at 8 o'clock.

Announcement of Mr. Dunning's appointment to the Finance portfolio was made by Prime Minister Mackenzie King following a meeting of the cabinet this evening.

Mr. Dunning relinquishes the portfolio of Minister of Railways and Canals, but will remain as acting minister for the time being. An appointment to the portfolio of Railways will be made before the next session of Parliament.

NO PRESSING NEED
In making the announcement of Mr. Dunning's appointment as Minister of Finance, Mr. King said that it was felt that there was no pressing need for an immediate selection for Minister of Railways. It was hoped that session to bring down legislation for the reorganization of the Canadian National Railways financing and this subject Mr. Dunning had well in hand.

On the other hand, it would be too much to expect Mr. Dunning to administer two departments during the session of Parliament. Therefore his term as Acting Minister of Railways would terminate before the session opened.

The Prime Minister had nothing to say with respect to the choice of an English-speaking Protestant representative on the cabinet from the Province of Quebec. Neither would he give any indication of who will succeed Mr. Dunning as Minister of Railways.

FIRE-TRAPPED TENANTS HAVE NEAR ESCAPE

Another Apartment House in Vancouver Scene of Sensational Blaze and Exciting Rescues

TWELVE RESIDENTS SAVED FROM DEATH

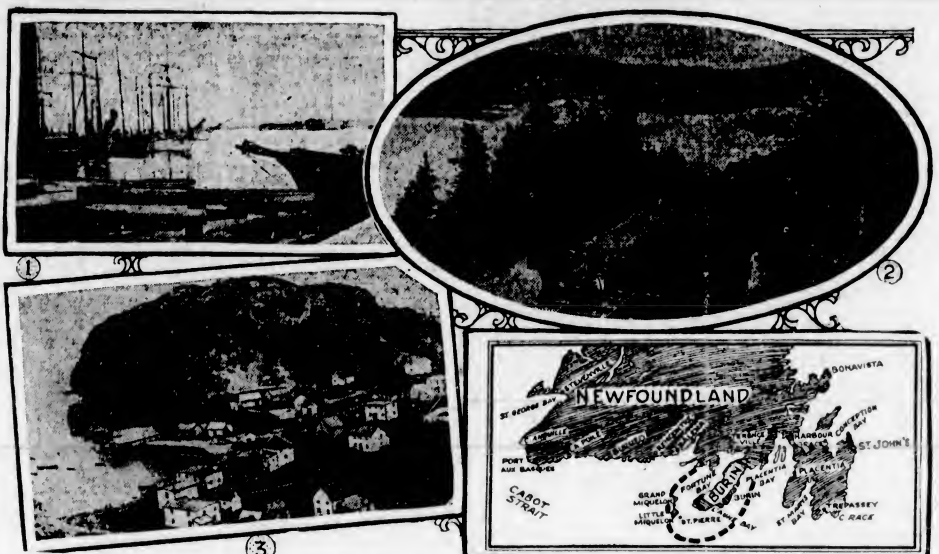

VANCOUVER, Nov. 26.—Trapped by fire which broke out on the first floor of the Abbott Mansions, Abbott and Hastings Streets, here this afternoon, twelve men and women were rescued by firemen, who ran ladders to the upper stories and carried the occupants to safety. The fire, according to occupants of the building, followed an explosion thought to have been caused by chemicals. Damage estimated at $40,000 or $50,000 was done.

FLAMES SPREAD QUICKLY
So quickly did the flames spread through the block that many of the tenants did not have time to escape by regular exits. One woman driven from her room by flames climbed out of a window and hung to the crossbar of a nearby telephone pole, from which she was rescued by firemen. A man was driven to seek safety on the ledge outside his room window.

SIR HARTMANN JUST CALLED BY DEATH

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Sir Hartmann Just, for many years a valued public servant in the old Colonial Office, died today. He was secretary at the earliest Imperial Conferences and during his career paid several visits to Canada. He was well known, especially in official circles at Ottawa. He was seventy-five years old, and was assistant Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies from 1907 to 1916.

Where Tidal Wave Took Twenty-Six Lives

A DISPATCH from Newfoundland tells the tale of a huge tidal wave, following the recent earthquake along the Atlantic seaboard, that swept the Peninsula of Burin, south coast of Newfoundland, claiming twenty-six lives and causing much distress and privation. Photographs here show: 1, Harbor of the island of Miquelon, French possession, just off Burin Peninsula, Newfoundland, in the affected area; 2, View of Placentia, on the Peninsula of Avalon, Newfoundland, also in the area swept by the tidal wave; 3, Nippers Harbor, another Newfoundland settlement in the region struck by quake inundation, and 4, Map showing Peninsula of Burin, on south coast of Newfoundland, and adjacent areas affected by the tidal wave.

MR. MCGAVIN RUNNING FOR POLICE BOARD

Enters Field in Opposition to Commissioner White—To State Views at Public Meeting

CONTEST FOR SEAT ASSURED

Mr. Andrew McGavin, 509 Cornwall Street, will be a candidate for the City Police Commission at the civic election in Victoria next month.

Mr. McGavin, who has been a resident of Victoria for twenty-nine years, and is proprietor of A. McGavin's service station, corner of Pandora Avenue and Quadra Street, has been in the tire business here for the past fifteen years.

The candidate contested the police commission in December, 1926, and 1928, on both of which occasions there were three-cornered contests. Mr. McGavin secured strong support at the polls in both years.

"I have been strongly urged to stand again for the Police Commission," Mr. McGavin told The Colonist yesterday, "but have been waiting to see if some person would come out in opposition to Mr. White. No one has entered the field against the retiring commissioner, and I have acceded to the numerous requests that I be a candidate for the office of Police Commissioner."

Mr. McGavin stated he proposed accepting the invitation that Mayor Herbert Anscomb had extended to all candidates for civic honors to attend the public meeting which his Workshop has called for the Chamber of Commerce auditorium on Tuesday, December 3, and at that time he would state his views on matters pertaining to the administration of the police department.

"As a taxpayer of Victoria for a long period, I have naturally taken a keen interest in civic government, and am interested in the conduct of police affairs and of law enforcement," said Mr. McGavin.

With the announcement of Mr. McGavin's candidature, a contest for the vacancy on the Police Commission is assured. Police Commissioner William White, who is completing a two-year term on the board, is seeking re-election next month.

Development of Cheakamus River May Be Assured

VANCOUVER, Nov. 26.—If the city completes development of the Cheakamus River for hydro-electric purposes, an unnamed group of financiers represented by Mr. A. H. Fleishman, Vancouver barrister, is prepared to assume control of the project and guarantee that the present power rate to consumers will be cut to one-half, according to a letter from Mr. Fleishman, read at the Civic Utilities Committee meeting Monday afternoon.

Fisheries Convention Next Year

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—A joint convention of United States and Canadian fishing interests will be held here in September, 1930, it was reported today. The announcement followed a meeting yesterday of the executives of the Canadian Fisheries Association which decided to have its convention dates coincide with the United States Association, which has already decided to hold its convention in Montreal.

"It will constitute the first time in the history of the North American continent that the fishing interests of the two countries will have got together to discuss the principles relating to the industry," Mr. R. W. Gould, secretary of the Canadian Association, said today, "and both sides of the border should benefit from the joint discussion."

Young Canoeists Rushing Through To Beat Winter

QUEBEC, Nov. 26.—Paul Paquin and Dick Lesage, transcontinental canoeists, were on their way to Edmunds, N.B., today. The two paddlers left Cabano, Quebec, Monday and expect to reach the New Brunswick city tomorrow. Paquin and Lesage, who left Vancouver on May 1, hope to complete their long voyage to Halifax before the rivers through which they must travel freeze up, and are losing no time, proceeding as fast as possible to their destination.

PRIZE RESULTS AT VANCOUVER FAIR

VANCOUVER, Nov. 26.—Judging of the district fruit exhibits at the B.C. Winter Fair was completed on Tuesday afternoon, with the following result: Kelowna, 833; Oliver Co-operative, 847; 1-2; (prepared by Mr. Wallace Mutch), 835-1-2; Penitence (prepared by Mr. A. N. Heil), 789.

Mr. McGavin stated he proposed accepting the invitation that Mayor Herbert Anscomb had extended to all candidates for civic honors to attend the public meeting which his Workshop has called for the Chamber of Commerce auditorium on Tuesday, December 3, and at that time he would state his views on matters pertaining to the administration of the police department.

As a taxpayer of Victoria for a long period, I have naturally taken a keen interest in civic government, and am interested in the conduct of police affairs and of law enforcement," said Mr. McGavin.

Prospects Now Brighter For Return of Party of Explorers to Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Nov. 26.—The McAlpine party may reach civilization in a few days. Pilot Sutton, of the Dominion Explorers, Limited, left Stony Rapids today on a flight to Fort Resolution, with a message advising Capt. G. S. Blanchet, in charge of the rescue party, to proceed at once with his eight once-lost charges for Fort Resolution.

VANCOUVER POWER LACK IS SERIOUS

Subnormal Rainfall for Many Months Creates Condition Calling for Reductions of Current

CITIZENS URGED TO CONTROL USE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 26.—Lack of normal rainfall for the past year has finally brought water levels so low that Vancouver, in common with other cities of the Pacific Northwest, is faced with a shortage of electric power.

"It may be necessary to curtail street car service and street corner lighting," Mayor W. H. Malkin said this afternoon, following a conference with Mr. W. G. Murrin, president of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company.

"We have been designing means to conservation, and it seems likely that we will have to make some sacrifices," he stated, but they will take no unnecessary chances with the weather.

Cold weather during the last few days in the Cranberry Portage section has at last opened the air trail for the party. With good landing places awaiting them at Cranberry, they can fly to Resolution, thence to Stony Rapids and southward to Winnipeg, soaring the remaining few miles to The Pas in a brief time. The party will travel from The Pas to Winnipeg by train.

Sugar Warehouse Razed by Blaze With Great Loss

TORRINGTON, Wyo., Nov. 26.—Sugar valued at more than $1,200,000 was being consumed tonight by fire which was eating its way through No. 2 of the Holly Sugar Company, north of the Platte River. The fire, which is believed to have been started by spontaneous combustion, had gone beyond control of 100 volunteer fighters, who turned their attention to the north side of the building in hope of saving that portion of the warehouse.

There are 200,000 sacks of sugar in the warehouse valued at $1,200,000, and the warehouse and contents are valued at $1,500,000.

The factory was not endangered by the flames. A number of firemen narrowly escaped death or serious injury when hundreds of the sugar-filled bags fell as a part of the warehouse caved in.

WEST COAST IS HIT BY FIERCE STORMS

Three Days of Wind and Rain Play Havoc in Districts in South Wales—Extensive Floods Cause Loss of Several Lives—Lifesavers Are Out Searching for Many Missing Vessels

Thrilling Attempt to Save Sailors Made by Lifeboat

MILFORD HAVEN, Wales, Nov. 26.—A lifeboat from this port today rescued twenty-eight persons from a rapidly disintegrating steamship, but reached the wreck too late to save eight others. In one of the worst storms on the Pembroke-shire coast in many years, the steamer Molesley, bound from Manchester to Cardiff, dashed on the rocks near Voltrack Point late last night. Efforts were made from land and sea to rescue the persons on board, but the gale and high seas frustrated all attempts.

During the night three of the crew, alarmed by the rapidly with which the ship was breaking up, tried to swim ashore, but were drowned. Five others were washed overboard or died of exposure, including the wife of the chief mate.

Radio Operator E. R. King sacrificed his life to save those of others. He stuck to his post and was busy sending out messages asking help when a mountainous sea swept away the cabin containing the wireless room.

This morning the lifeboat was able to reach the vessel and took off the remaining twenty-eight persons, including Captain O. E. Outley.

GALES STILL RAGE
LONDON, Nov. 26.—Gales that began Saturday night still swept over Great Britain today causing loss of life and extensive property damage. The worst effects have been felt in Wales and along the northern coasts.

At Hoylake, Cheshire, a lifeboat battled with mountainous seas throughout the night searching for missing craft from Deeside. A relief motorboat which followed her met with no success.

FLOODS EXTENSIVE
Extensive floods in South Wales and Devonshire caused the loss of several lives. Motorists in many districts in Wales found roads blocked with water five feet deep. Gangs of railway men at Pontypridd have been busy since Sunday repairing tracks.

There were floods in the neighborhood of Tiverton, Devonshire, where water has rushed through railways, making traffic impossible. Two children were drowned and cottages were flooded to their upper floors. Damage in South Wales to date amounts to $1,000,000.

One effect of the floods at Swansea has been an invasion of rats. Householders have become so alarmed they have barricaded every crevice. People refuse to open their doors at night and take turns sitting up to drive away the rodents.

NORTH PORTUGAL SWAMPED
LISBON, Nov. 26.—Widespread devastation has been caused in North Portugal by floods, and has spread misery and unemployment to an alarming extent. One farmer lost his life when he jumped into a flooded river to save a child, and his body was swept away. The rapid evacuation of the flooded districts saved thousands of lives at Ponte de Dura. Bridges, roads, mills and factories were destroyed or damaged and traffic was held up. The plight of hundreds of families who fled at night looking for refuge, since thousands of tons of supplies were carried away in the floods.

Collapse of Civil War Is Very Sudden

HANKOW, Nov. 27.—Hostilities in Honan and Hupeh provinces, where the Nationalist Government has been fighting the rebellious Kuomintang, have ended with a suddenness that has surprised all observers, although it is now known negotiations have been going on for some days between the leaders of the two factions.

President Chiang Kai-shek, of the Nationalist Government, returned today to Nanking with a reported programme of "sweeping governmental changes" which is expected to give his late enemies a measure of recognition at Nanking. The Kuomintang was simultaneously reported evacuating both Honan and Hupeh provinces.

What part Peng Yu-Huang, Kuomintang chief, played in the rapid changes was revealed here today, although it was accepted that the so-called "Christian General" had exerted powerful influences behind the scenes.

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—Representatives of the pulp and paper interests were in conference here today with Premier G. H. Ferguson, of Ontario, and Premier L. A. Tachereau, of Quebec, in regard to the future of the industry as affected by the much-discussed price question. Both premiers reached Montreal this morning.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 26.—A pioneer of Vancouver for many years, his first residence here dating back to the early 'eighties, Mr. George Taylor, brother of Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, vice-president of the Bank of Montreal, passed away at Squamish on Monday. He was in his seventy-fifth year. Mr. Taylor was at one time superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway shops here, and afterwards was with the Vancouver Engineering Works and the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Child Marriages Of Mother India Are on Increase

LONDON, Nov. 26.—The Daily Express, in a dispatch from Bombay, today, said infant brides were being rushed to the altar by the hundreds in some parts of India to forestall the law prohibiting child marriage, which becomes effective in April. Brides and bridegrooms of between five and twelve years have been a common sight. Even marriages between babies have been arranged.

GEN. CURRIE RAPS BOARD ON PENSIONS

are surely attributable to war service.

"As years go on these breakdowns will become more numerous and no pension board or medical board will be free from the charge of callous indifference unless they are sympathetically regarded."

"This matter of adequate care for disabled comrades and for the dependents of those who fell, adequate employment for those whose careers were broken by the years of war—that, my comrades, is an objective which we must reach and from which there must be no retreat."

CANADA'S WAR DEEDS

Sir Arthur's message also stressed the need for perpetuating the memory of the splendid deeds of Canada's men and women during the war.

"Too often," he said, "we see evidence that sections of classes, or country, even if they have not forgotten, are willing to take an attitude and withhold from the men of the Canadian Corps an acknowledgment of what that corps did to write Canada's name high on the world's roll of honor."

"We ask ourselves why it is that in our history books so brief a mention is made of Canada's war efforts, why it is that war pictures no longer see the light of the day, as if we were either ashamed of what our men did or are unwilling to acknowledge the worth of their service."

FREE HOSPITALIZATION

The enunciation of the six principles of the charter of rights of the ex-service men of Canada, adopted by the delegates in a resolution calling for free hospitalization of all ex-service men who suffer from a breakdown in health, and who are unable to provide for themselves, formed the highlight of the afternoon session of the annual convention of the Canadian Legion.

This subject of free hospitalization has been one of the chief fighting planks of the Canadian Legion, and after an exhaustive study by the resolutions committee, the subject was brought before the convention by Brig.-Gen. Alex Ross and adopted unanimously as the main item of new legislation to be sought by the Dominion Executive Council.

In introducing the resolution General Ross said those men who were well must forgo any claim they had in order that their disabled comrades might be cared for.

"The broken-down man, the burnt-out motorist, he is considered a war casualty, and it is not fit nor just that he should become the recipient of charity."

NATIONAL FLAG

By a unanimous vote the convention adopted the policy to be followed by the organization in any discussion of the adoption of a distinctly national flag for Canada.

The convention was strongly of the opinion that the Union Jack should be retained as Canada's national flag, but for the purpose of guiding the Dominion officers the following resolution was passed:

"Be it resolved that this convention instruct the Dominion Council that in the event of any concrete proposition for the adoption of a distinctly Canadian flag being presented to Parliament, that Parliament be advised that no device will be acceptable to the ex-service men of Canada in which the Union Jack is not the predominant figure, and if the question is to be decided in favor of recommending the retention of the Union Jack with some device, such as the Maple Leaf or the Canadian Coat of Arms, super-imposed thereon."

Other resolutions passed in the morning included provision for the organization of a memorial pilgrimage to Vimy Ridge in 1931 or 1932, for the compilation as quickly as possible of an official Canadian war history, and for the proper preservation for posterity of the Canadian war films.

"Do you think you know enough to be useful in this office?"

"Know enough? Why I left my last place because the boss said I knew too much."

Greatest Gasoline Supply in the World

C. LORNE Campbell, Toronto engineer, at left, has become associated with William P. Hinton, at right, in a new process for extracting crude oil from Alberta's bituminous sands by a process developed by Mr. Hinton and W. C. Laughlin, mining engineers, which will produce a total of about 35,000,000 barrels of gasoline. The map shows the location of the world's largest bituminous sand deposits, found along the Athabasca and its tributaries, about three hundred miles north of Edmonton, Alta. In a paper delivered somewhat over a year ago, before the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, Gustaf Eglöf and Jacques C. Morrell estimated the deposits contained over 100,000,000 barrels of bitumen and could produce more than 35,000,000 barrels of gasoline, or enough to supply the present world demand for over a hundred years.

TERRIFIC RACE FOR LIFE WON

Lost on Christmas Day in Unmapped Mountain Passes of North Mr. Mahoney Hunted by Wolves

THREE SLEEPLESS NIGHTS ARE SPENT

By W. J. CARR (Copyright, 1929)

TORONTO, Nov. 26.—With a corpse as his only companion on a 500-mile lone trek through a frozen trackless wilderness, Mike Mahoney, champion musher of the Klondike, fought a night battle against sleep to keep the fire going and a pack of ferocious timber wolves at bay.

This is the kind of setting for stories that made Rex Beach and Robert W. Service famous. In this case you can have it told by Mike himself, who is now better known as M. A. Mahoney, successful Ottawa business man. Mr. Mahoney has been in Toronto thrilling the boys at Upper Canada College with accounts of some of his experiences during the thirteen years he spent on the trail of '98.

He came to Ottawa in 1897 with three dollars in his pocket, Mike Mahoney returned in 1910 a rich man, having delivered to the United States army office in Seattle the largest consignment of raw fur ever taken out of the Yukon by an individual. In those days this six-foot, fish-canadian from Bucking-ham, Que., was seventeen. Today he is fifty.

Hiring himself as "nurse" to a load of horses he arrived off Skagway just as the rush to Dawson started. Stranded without money he hired himself as a packer to one of the outfit starting out over the now famous trail of '98, and carrying sacks of flour struggled up the treacherous trail which proved such a Calvary to so many. He vividly described the horrors of the trail. How men and horses died, how sympathy and human kindness were buried in the lust for gold and the mad rush to get into Dawson before the freeze-up.

CHAMPION MUSHER

It was in December, 1904, that he met with his great adventure. He arrived in Fairbanks just at the time Judge Humes fell dead in the streets.

"The Northwest Mounted Police did wonderful work in maintaining law and order in Canadian territory, but conditions were bad in that owned by the States. Claim-jumping and gunplay became the order of the day, and Judge Humes was ex-mayor of Seattle and one of the best liked and most respected men in the States, was sent up to try and restore law and order. The task and his advanced years proved too much for him and he fell dead in the streets.

"I was asked by my friends if I would undertake to get his body back to Seattle, because they didn't like the idea of leaving him there till the Spring and then bury him away up there in the wilderness far from his friends and relations. He was a sort of a national hero. I took the job. On the morning of December 4 I started out with my dog team dragging the body, which was nailed up in a strong box lashed to the sleds. I decided to follow the trail and keep in touch as long as possible with the scattered mining claims and prospectors' shacks and then strike over the mountains and hit the coast near Valdez. I knew if I missed the town there was a good chance of being picked up by a passing whaler or some other boat.

BATTLE WITH GREY WOLVES

"All went well until I left the last prospector's shack. I expected to be out of touch with human beings for about five days or a week, but I found myself in a wilderness of mountainous peaks and gigantic valleys and frozen rivers. I had with me a pack of reindeer. On Christmas morning I was without food and lost.

"I found my way barred by what appeared to be an insurmountable barrier. It was as bad to turn back as to push ahead. I decided to climb the mountains and try to find a pass. I succeeded, thanks to my dogs."

He found himself once more in the timber and, just at the time he succeeded in killing a reindeer and thought he had a chance of winning his way through to the coast, he discovered he was being trailed by a pack of timber wolves. For three long weary nights he sat with his dogs around a fire which kept the wolves at their distance. Ringed around by the gaunt grey that they will have to be enforced within a few days," the mayor said. In the meantime the Power Company officials are urging their customers to refrain as far as possible from using electric heaters and other electric devices and to use no more lighting than necessary.

USING STEAM POWER

Each day makes the situation more serious, officials state. Since last Spring the British Columbia Electric Company has been running its auxiliary steam plant to make up for the lack of hydro power.

The rainfall was far below normal last Fall and Winter, and there was very little snow on the mountains. The Summer and present Fall have also fallen far below their normal quotas of rain, and meteorological officials predict that the lack of heavy rain will continue for some time.

Seattle and Tacoma, in the state of Washington, are in a serious way. Low hanging clouds with slight mist and intermittent rain have been general over the Northwest for some days, but the moisture has not been sufficient to aid in the power situation.

BANK OF MONTREAL HAS GREAT REPORT

Annual Statement Just Made Shows Number of New Records Made During Past Fiscal Year

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—Striking evidence of the strength of the banking position in Canada is offered by the annual statement of the Bank of Montreal for the fiscal year ending October 31, 1929.

The general statement of assets and liabilities establishes a number of new records. Total assets at the end of the year were $1,000,000,000, a record for the bank.

IN STRONG POSITION

Notwithstanding the gain in total assets, the larger demands of the business of the country and the unusual conditions existing in stock and security markets, the bank has maintained its strong liquid position.

Of total assets of $1,000,000,000, $600,000,000 are in the form of liquid assets amounting to $400,000,000, equal to 60 per cent of liabilities to the public.

Deposits in all departments show a substantial increase, those not bearing interest standing at $178,284,000, as against $149,770,430, while deposits bearing interest were $924,000,000, compared with $751,685,581.

Profits for the year are well above previous levels. Net profits, after deducting charges of maintenance and making full provision for all bad and doubtful debts, were $7,070,892.

To the profit of the year were added balance of profit carried forward of $713,788, and premiums on new stocks amounting to $6,031,840, bringing the total amount available up to $13,816,521.

The report will be submitted to shareholders at the annual meeting to be held on Monday, December 2.

Newsprint Prices Fixed at Higher Rate Than Today

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—Following a conference here today between Premier G. Howard Ferguson, of Ontario, and Premier Taschereau, of Quebec, it was announced that had agreed that $50 per ton was a reasonable and fair price for newsprint.

The rate of $55 a ton was not a fair price at the present time, and did not show a reasonable return to the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, Premier Taschereau said after the conference.

The autumn sales were on and the normally busy street was warming thicker than ever before with crowds of eager bargain hunters. Outside one of the largest stores stood a policeman, genially directing all inquirers and supervising the human mass. Suddenly he bent his head to the timid question of a dear old lady.

"Constable," said she, "do you mind going into that shop and getting me one of their catalogues?"

"Sorry, madam," he returned, "but I am on duty. Can you not get one for yourself?"

"No; I don't think they'll let me have one. You see, it says in their advertisement, 'Send P.C. for catalogue,' and so, as you have a kind face, I thought I'd ask you."

"You were engaged for five years! Wasn't it rather boring?"

"No—it was not always the same man."

Smith was recently a patient in the hospital, where he was receiving medical attention for a broken leg. The fracture was mending and he was waiting in town until he was in a condition to return to work.

"I'm laying a trap for my wife!" he explained. From the stairs to a gossiping friend.

And the friend looked at him with expression most pained. As he watched the young husband descend.

"My boy," his friend said, "what fault or defect has compelled you to subtle device?"

"You're laying a trap!—then what do you suspect?"

"I suspect," smiled the husband, "some mis-"

FROZEN FRUIT FAILS TO GIVE GOOD RESULT

Department of Agriculture Finds Itself Handicapped by Incidents Which Occurred in 1928

HOW DIFFICULTY HAS ARISEN

Information obtained from the Department of Agriculture shows that the dissatisfaction which has arisen in connection with the so-called processed berries that left this province for the East had nothing whatever to do with the berries processed during the past season under the arrangement entered into between the growers and the Provincial Government. The fact of the matter is that these berries which have been unsatisfactory were put up in 1928 and were not processed at all.

There were in 1928 some 225 tons of berries that were not placed on the market in a fresh condition but were frozen. There was no sugar mixed with these berries so treated, but it was anticipated by some of those in the business that they would be available for the market in that form at a price that would give them some return.

These were offered at seven cents, and a sample shipment sent to Toronto and another to England. They proved very unsatisfactory, and so far have not been taken advantage of.

The department is now seeking to counteract the evil effects which appear to have been produced as a result, and a car load of this year's processed berries, treated (two of berries to one of sugar, and done under the supervision of the government), has just been dispatched to Toronto for purposes of testing them.

Jam producers will be asked to sample them, and it is hoped that in this way the bad effects of the frozen fruit of the year before will be counteracted.

GRANITE FALLS DAM PROCEEDS

Work Has Started by West Kootenay Power Company on Construction

Work is starting on the foundations for the Granite Falls dam which the West Kootenay Power Company intends to put in there. Mr. Lorne Campbell, the superintendent of the company, says that those who are objecting to the dam have a limited time within which to make their representations against the undertaking before the International Joint Commission. It is necessary for these applicants to establish that there will be injury worked by the dam.

In the opinion of the power company this will not be possible to establish. It is contended by some that the dam, in addition to providing a benefit for the company in retaining water so that it will flow off gradually, will also benefit areas of land which are now flooded to their detriment.

PART OF FAIRFIELD WILL PROBABLY ASK FOR ROUTE

Announcement that the British Columbia Electric Railway Company is planning to operate a fleet of motor buses in the city is one of considerable importance to residents of those portions of Victoria remote from existing street car lines. The mobility of the motor bus and its complete independence of a specially-prepared track are factors that open the door to transportation facilities for such districts that hitherto have been out of the question.

Residents of part of the Fairfield district, especially the northern portion, seem to be particularly interested in the probable inauguration of such a service and, it is understood, petitions shortly will be circulated with a view to having the B.C. Electric establish one of their new services through the district in question.

B.C. GETS NEW OIL REFINERY

TWO-MILLION-DOLLAR INDUSTRY—CONTRACT LET FOR CONSTRUCTION

Seaboard Oil and Refining Company, of Vancouver, Enters Field—Early Operation

Western Canada in general and Vancouver in particular has received more attention from the larger oil refiners of this continent during 1929 than ever before in history. As a result, six brands of gasoline are today offered to the public in British Columbia, and undoubtedly the very near future will see this number largely increased.

Incorporation papers have been received from Ottawa granting a Dominion charter to Seaboard Oil & Refining Company, Limited, with head offices in the Standard Bank Building, Vancouver. The company has been incorporated for the purpose of building and operating a complete refining and marketing plant capable of handling 4,000 barrels of crude oil per day, which will be of the latest design in every particular, including continuous treatment of the crude by means of treating of kerosene. The site chosen by the company affords deep sea waterfrontage and rail transportation, the Harbor Terminal Building, already having spur connections to the property.

The plans of the company provide for a complete oil refining plant, capable of handling 4,000 barrels of crude oil per day, which will be of the latest design in every particular, including continuous treatment of the crude by means of treating of kerosene. The site chosen by the company affords deep sea waterfrontage and rail transportation, the Harbor Terminal Building, already having spur connections to the property.

A supply of high gravity crude oil has been contracted for a period of years. One of the characteristics of this oil is its high standard, that makes it most valuable, is the fact that it is free from sulphur and other injurious constituents. It is a high grade of gasoline manufactured today is made from crude oil of this character. The raw materials will be shipped by water in cargo lots from San Pedro, Cal., to the company's wharf and storage on Burrard Inlet, and arrangements are now being made for British vessels to call at the wharf.

SALE CONTRACTED FOR

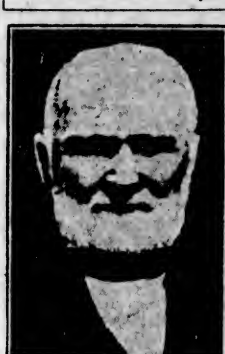

The major portion of all the products to be manufactured by the Seaboard Oil & Refining Company have already been contracted, and the company is at present in the deal of satisfaction is expressed by those responsible for the industry, because of the fact, that while the raw material is coming from the United States, yet a large portion of the manufactured products will be sold to the American people in the States of Washington, Oregon and Idaho. According to the officials of the company, this is one of the first occasions in Canadian history where it has been possible to bring raw material from the United States, manufacture it in Canada, and then return, in competition with the American manufacturers, the finished product to the American consumer, particularly in the States of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana.

Of course it is the intention of the company to eventually create a research division for the purpose of exploring the North Pacific slope of Canada with the object of finding and developing structures that are favorable for the production of oil and gas.

It is of interest that the Seaboard Oil & Refining Company, is purely a Canadian corporation whose president and general manager, D. B. Boyd, was born and raised in the County of Bruce, Ontario. Although Mr. Boyd has been connected with several of the Standard Oil corporations during the past twelve years, which required his residing in the South, he has been largely instrumental in bringing this important industry to Canada. Other interests associated with Mr. Boyd are represented on the board of directors by Mr. C. W. Durbrow, chief of the legal division of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the largest holders of the potential oil land in California, and Mr. Edwin D. Sheldon, executive vice-president of Sunbelt Pacific Oil Company, of Los Angeles. Prominent British Columbia citizens will later be chosen to complete the permanent board.

The initial cost of the first operating unit of the plant will be approximately two million dollars, of which over 25 per cent already has been expended in site, construction and crude oil purchases. The general construction contract has been awarded to the Southwestern Engineering Corporation of Canada, with head office in Montreal, and is practically a duplicate of the new four-thousand-barrel plant constructed by the Southwestern Engineering Corporation of the United States for the White Star Oil Company of Detroit, Mich. A complete description of this plant is given in the current issue of the Oil and Gas Journal published at Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Seaboard Oil & Refining Company, Limited, expects to have its plant in operation early next year.

and intends manufacturing and marketing his own brand of gasoline and kerosene, distillate, Diesel oil and fuel oil, together with a full line of lubricants and greases.

A public offering of the 7 per cent preferred stock of this company is now being offered for subscription by Branson, Brown & Company, Limited, and judging by public interest in this new industry this stock is receiving a very favorable reception.

Court of Appeal

Victoria Sittings

The Court of Appeal sat yesterday to deliver a judgment reserved at the recent sessions in Vancouver, and to hear applications with regard to other cases.

Rev. vs. Evans (Appellant)—Appellant had been indicted on three separate counts. The trial judge properly instructed the jury upon the distinctive counts. The jury returned a verdict of "guilty," and was not asked upon what count the accused was convicted. Appellant submitted that the verdict must be set aside for uncertainty and the trial judge was not justified in dealing with the conviction as one for the major offence and imposing sentence accordingly.

The trial judge laid particular stress on what was the main charge and, at the same time, told the jury that a verdict on either one of the lesser counts was open to it; nevertheless, the jury returned a verdict to the jury by the clerk of assize as one offence only. The clerk asked the foreman whether the jury found the accused "guilty of the offence" whereof he stood charged. It was intimated in the judgment of the Court of Appeal that there was a danger that the jury may have been misled by the use of the singular instead of plural statement of the offences charged. The accused should not have been convicted except upon an intelligible verdict.

The court set aside the verdict and sentence and ordered a new trial.

Rex vs. Bell (Appellant)—Appellant had been convicted at the Westminster assizes in May of Westinghouse, entering a store and stealing jewelry. He was sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary for five years. Appellant's appeal from his conviction was heard in Vancouver at the recent sessions, and dismissed. He now applied for an order that the term of his sentence should run from the date of the information on which he was charged, instead of from the date of the dismissal of the appeal. He had been in jail without bail upon the charge upon which he was tried in June March. Counsel for the Crown intimated that the Attorney-General was ready to consent to an order that the sentence should date from the date of the conviction. The court intimated that it was necessary to consider whether it had jurisdiction to make the order applied for, and determined that power was vested in it by virtue of Section 1019 (2) of the Code. It appeared to the court that appellant had appealed within the time specified for the purpose, and that it was just that he should be granted relief to the extent of the time occupied by the proceedings upon appeal, and the court granted an order accordingly.

Mr. Mark Cosgrove for the Crown; Mr. Stuart Henderson for appellant.

Turner (Appellant) vs. Cantone (Respondent)—Appellant was injured in a motor car accident. Her action for damages against respondent was dismissed at the recent sessions. She was the driver of the car in which she was a passenger, was dismissed in the Supreme Court. The decision of the trial judge was reversed upon appeal by a majority of the court. The amount of damages had not yet been assessed by the trial judge. Respondent applied to the Court of Appeal for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada. The court intimated that the application should not be made until the amount of the damages had been ascertained, and dismissed the application with costs.

Mr. H. A. Maclean, K.C., for respondent; Mr. C. H. O'Halloran for appellant.

PRIVY COUNCIL KILLS APPEAL

Preliminary Objection Is Fatal to Success of Produce Marketing Application in Courts

CASE ORIGINATED ON LOWER MAINLAND

The Privy Council in London has refused to deal with the merits of the appeal taken before it attacking the Produce Marketing Act of the Province. Word received by the Attorney-General's Department is to the effect that the Privy Council dismissed the appeal on the preliminary objection raised.

This objection was that the matter involved was a quasi-criminal one and was not therefore properly before the court.

The case was therefore not argued on its merits, and the standing of the act depends upon the judgment of the Court of Appeal of the Province of British Columbia which, when the subject was before it, declared the act to be within the powers of the Legislature to enact.

The appeal which was taken to the Privy Council was one from convictions secured against Chinamen on the Lower Mainland who had defied the provisions of the act with respect to the sale of potatoes without obtaining the proper permission to sell under the orders of the Committee of Direction.

The case was not taken to the Supreme Court of Canada but passed directly from the Court of Appeal to the Privy Council in London, with the result that it was thrown out there as not being properly before that court.

Oregon Forest Fires Brought Under Control

GRANT'S PASS, Ore., Nov. 26.—Delayed reports received today from Southern Oregon forest fire lines indicated crews had brought under control the Winchuck, Gold Beach and Quotana fires and no new flames had developed throughout the district.

A "LOAN" TO RUSSIA

It is considered as probable that one of the first acts of the British Labor Government, after diplomatic relations with Russia are restored, will be a loan to the Soviet Power. The irony of a proposal of this character has almost a ludicrous aspect were it not an insult to the intelligence of the British taxpayer. The Soviet Government has already repudiated a debt of $4,435,000,000 owed to the British taxpayer and done away with British investments and undertakings in Russia valued at $2,500,000,000. From the outset of its regime, as Mr. Bernard Pares has pointed out, the Soviet Government confiscated all British property in Russia and repudiated all debts to the British Government.

Mr. Pares says that the French lent money to the Russian Government and lost every penny of it. The Soviet Government is the one that repudiated all debts owed to the British and denied all first principles of financial credit. "Any Government loan or guarantee to the Soviet authorities," says Mr. Pares, "would be the grossest injustice both to those who have lost all their money in Russia and to the British taxpayer." The New York Exchange is a well of purity undefiled compared with the financial ethics of the Soviet Power.

"THE RIGHT TO KILL"

An Englishman, Richard Corbett, has been acquitted at a French Assize Court for the murder of his mother who was suffering from an incurable disease. He admitted the murder, saying, "Science had done all that it could and I wished to release my mother." The jury in the case divided, six for acquittal and six for condemnation. The accused man shot and killed his mother while she was asleep and immediately afterwards inflicted a severe wound on himself with the same weapon in an attempt to commit suicide. The latter act could be interpreted into an admission to himself that he had committed a crime. The President of the Court in addressing the accused said: "You are intelligent and well read—a philosopher in fact; you must have understood the gravity, both material and moral, of your act. No religion, no moral law, permits the taking of life, even for the purpose of putting an end to suffering."

The acquittal of Corbett has given rise to a discussion on the "right to kill." The expression is an erroneous one because there is no such right in any law from the Sixth Commandment down through the record of law-giving all along the ages. The mentality of the man who murdered his mother is illustrated by the attempt at suicide, an act which Shakespeare found "cowardly and vile." Any new dispensation tolerating, even under the most extenuating circumstances, the right to murder, would be a challenge to a basic principle of ethical conduct and a devastating factor in any code of morality. Shakespeare was unquestionably right in the argument used by Edgar in "King Lear":

"Men must endure
 Their going hence, even as their coming hither."
 Ripeness is all."

TO STOP "BUCKETING"

In Ontario a stock exchange audit is being put into force with the avowed object of stopping "bucketing" on the mining exchanges. Recent revelations point to some brokers using the money put up by customers on purchases to finance the brokers' short sales. This is a practice which prevails elsewhere as well, but in other provinces of the Dominion there is, as yet, no such safeguarding law on the statute books as in Ontario. The law in Ontario is not yet wholly in operation, but undoubtedly will be right away in view of happenings during recent months. The Toronto Stock Exchange has complied with the law; the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange has yet to do so. The new law has the following features dealing with auditing:

"The executive committee of a stock exchange may at any time require any brokers' auditor upon the panel of accountants of the exchange to make any general or special audit or report upon the whole or any aspect of the business or affairs of any person or company who is or has been a member of or in any way represented upon the exchange.

"Every brokers' auditor, for the purpose of any audit under the provisions of this section, shall be entitled to free access of all books of account, securities, cash, documents, bank accounts, vouchers, correspondence and records of any description of the person or company being audited, and any person or company withholding, destroying, concealing or refusing to give any information or thing reasonably required by the auditor for the purpose of his audit, shall be guilty of an offence.

"Every brokers' auditor during or upon the completion of every audit under the provisions of this section shall send a copy of every report whether interim or final to the exchange auditor and shall in addition specially report to such auditor any particular information which may be required under the by-laws, rules or regulations of the exchange and any further information which the brokers' auditor deems it to be in the public interest so to report, and the exchange officer shall deem it to be in the public interest so to report, and the exchange officer shall summarize all information so received, and report thereon to the executive committee for scrutiny identifying the person or company affected thereby by number only until the executive committee decides to take action in respect to any such person or company.

"Any person designated in writing by the executive committee may examine under oath any member of the exchange or any officer of any company represented thereon, or any associate or employee of any such person or company upon any matter arising out of any report of a brokers' auditor, and for the purposes of such inquiry the person so designated shall have all the power which may be conferred upon a commissioner under the Public Inquiries Act.

"Any executive committee may in writing, require any person or company whose affairs have been audited to alter, supplement or replace any system of book or record keeping in any manner. "Failure by any person or company, a member of or represented upon any stock exchange, to comply with any requirement of the executive committee of the exchange, or any person designated by it under Subsection Eight hereof, shall constitute an offence and shall entitle the executive committee to suspend such person or member representing such company for such period as the said committee shall determine."

MRS. M. J. COURTNEY

Seventy years of the life of the late Mrs. Mary Jane Courtney were spent in this city. She was a pioneer who saw some of the earliest developments. Her late husband, Mr. Henry Claxson Courtney, was for many years police magistrate, a position in which he won the respect of the community. Mrs. Courtney had identified herself with many societies, in which she did good work, philanthropic and of other social order, and for a long time she was a cherished member of the Daughters of Empire. As a mother and wife she was of the type that makes for strength in any community both in its pioneering and growing days. It was small wonder that during her lengthy residence she should have made such a host of friends, all of whom will mourn her passing and extend deep sympathy to her sons.

THE NEW FINANCE MINISTER

The appointment of Mr. Dunning as Minister of Finance opens a vista of interesting possibilities. The former champion of the radical free traders of Saskatchewan, and the present representative in the Dominion Ministry of the Liberal Party of that province, will be the minister directly responsible for the tariff. The exigencies of the Liberal Party in Ontario, and particularly in Quebec, will compel him to appear as the champion of the protective principle, so far as the tariff affects the industries of those provinces. How will his Prairie followers receive this and what effect will it have on his political strength there?

In the United States during 1927 the number of persons who actually paid income tax numbered only slightly over 2 per cent of the population. There are those who maintain that the income tax is the fairest tax of all. It is, on the basis of an argument that the fewer people who pay taxes the better. An income tax only reaches an infinitesimal portion of a people and often it operates in the nature of a penalty on thrift.

During the first nine months of the present year Ontario's mineral production has been increasing at the rate of nearly $1,000,000 a month. It is now estimated that the total mineral output for the present year will reach $110,000,000, or an increase of 10 per cent over 1928. In gold alone the production for the first nine months of 1929 is valued at $24,736,562.

INTROSPECTION

I often wonder if, when you are dead,
 I shall look back on these unhappy days,
 And ask myself in sudden, shamed amazement
 How many things I might have left unsaid—
 This bitter sentence, that intended slight!
 How often, when Hate burned,
 I might have wisely turned
 And cooled it patiently out in the night!
 Will I an old intolerance besmoke
 When you are dead, and I am left alone?
 I vow repentance, then you speak again;
 And ah! so cunningly you edge each dart!
 So well you know each vulnerable part
 That all too great becomes the rage and pain.
 So, I too, lift my bow,
 Skilled archery to show,
 And the whole world war begins again!
 But still a desperate hope persists that we
 Some kindness will bequeath to Memory!

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

The people of the world are not so mad as some philosophical commentators say they are. The manifestations which have provoked the observations of the wise men are not evidence of madness in a mild form but indications of eccentricity in an extreme form. In fact, the signs of the times noted by the philosophers are but manifestations of the progressive spirit of the age. The world is simply moving. The observers of the signs of the times are not concerned about the rapid advance of the world so much as they are agitated in mind about where the rapid forward movement is going to stop. The more apprehensive of them fear that the end will be social and political chaos.

Even the round globe which is the stage upon which the tragic or the comic as the case may be, is being played has become almost as eccentric as the players. We have been admonished not to say anything about the weather, but when we consider the present state of the weather, how can that matter be passed over without taking occasion by the hand and saying something about it? There is a pronounced shortage of water in Vancouver and there has been an ice famine in Iceland. Whoever expected to live to behold two such extraordinary phenomena? Not only is the earth behaving in a markedly eccentric manner, but even the atmospheric blanket which encircles the earth is sharing in the eccentricity of the parent body.

Although the weather during the past Summer was extremely dry and hotter than usual, although the sun, notwithstanding his spots, shone as brightly as ever, and discharged his functions with his customary regularity, there is a shortage of water not only in Vancouver (a startling phenomenon) but in Victoria and all along the North Pacific Coast.

What has the brilliance of the sun to do with rainfall? This: The heat of the sun causes evaporation of the waters on the earth. The vapor from the waters enters the earth's atmosphere and hangs in suspension between earth and heaven until it is released by other forces of nature and gladdens the hearts of men engaged in the peaceful pursuits of agriculture and causes joy in the hearts of other men who have built power houses in all parts of this continent, installed machinery therein and rely upon ample supplies of water to turn the wheels of those machines.

We are disquieted in mind about the abnormal state of the weather, not because we have broad or narrow acres to cultivate or wheels to turn, but for another reason. If the sun shone more brightly than usual during the past season, he must have turned more water than usual into vapor, the vapor thus created must be impregnating the atmosphere at the present time, and must be precipitated in some form upon the face of the earth sooner or later. Our mind is disquieted within us because of apprehension about the form of this precipitation. The water may fall in a deluge or it may come down gently in the form of snow. We therefore trust that if nature must adjust her balances and give us the amount of precipitation to which we are entitled under natural law, she will go about her business in a spirit of moderation. Extremes are objectionable because they cause inconvenience, sometimes destruction, and occasionally devastation.

Although our normal rainfall in this part of the world is but 27 decimal inches, we have seen the clouds gather and the rains fall for such a protracted period that it seemed as if nature were jealous of the reputation of Vancouver; and once or twice during a long term of years we have seen snow fall as if nature had lost all sense of meteorological proportion, had lost her way, and did not know where to stop. We know that the hearts of men who are interested in the turning of wheels would rejoice and be exceedingly glad if there were an immediate deluge of some kind to fill their reservoirs and to store away for a drier day. We sympathize with them and appreciate their position. We know they are hoping for and may be praying for snow quite as fervently as the straggly boy who has a sleigh which he only uses once in his short life and what a time that was parked in the basement. We know there is no powerful warship in the Canadian navy that could be conscripted by petition and turned into a power house to turn the wheels and light the streets of our cities like the big battleship which is establishing a new naval precedent and meeting a short-felt want in the neighboring cities of Seattle and Tacoma.

At the same time we believe we are expressing popular opinion when we declare with emphasis that while everybody here knows that whatever goes up must come down, nobody here wants the vapor that has gone up to come down in the form of snow. In most parts of Canada snow is welcome. In this part of Canada it is simply a nuisance. In most parts of Canada snow stimulates business. In this part of Canada, where we do not expect it and do not know what to do with it, it is an obstacle to business. We realize that we shall be censured for saying anything at all about the weather; but when the mind is charged with a subject that everybody is talking about, why should we be subjected to a censorship?

SO SOON

So soon will Christmastide be here;
 Prepare thine heart to meet those dear
 To thee and thine! With Love, combine
 And greet thy loved ones, arms
 entwined
 And put away all thoughts austere!
 There may be one, who, from his
 Of ridicule, will not appear
 At table-board, or Christmas shrine—
 So soon will Christmastide
 be here!
 If all thy thoughts be quite sincere,
 Place with thy Love and Christmas
 A portion, though it be most fine,
 Aside, for absent friends! Incline
 Thine heart to all who are not near!
 So soon will Christmastide
 be here!

"JOURNEY'S END"

Sir,—Your correspondent in Saturday's issue seems to have mislaid the "book" entirely with regard to this wonderful play. So far from presenting the morale of British officers in a bad light, it seems to me to present just the reverse. For to conquer fear seems to me to be far greater than to feel none. The company commander who seems to have incurred Mr. Devitt's contempt was like hundreds of others, a mere boy when in the first flush of a great enthusiasm he first went to France; when we see him he is a prematurely-aged veteran whose mind, if it is not his body, is scarred by three years. Three years, think of it! Of utter hell. He is admittedly looked up to and trusted by his men and fellow officers, and only to himself has he showed the fear and terror destroying his soul.

The responsibility of a company commander in the line was very great, far greater very often than that of the battalion commander, and if he resorted to drink to sustain this responsibility and to hide his feet from the men who trusted him, who is there to blame him?
 Of the others, with the exception of the one would-be shirker, neither their courage nor their ability could be questioned, and in the play at all events, even the shirker masters his fear and plays the man.

To my mind, these men, Uncle, and the rest were very typical of those fellows who, utterly unused to even the thought of war, physically frightened and terrorized by bombardments, the like of which had never occurred on earth before, yet made their plans, concealed their fear from all but themselves and led their men coolly and bravely for the honor of their country.

There is no need, as Mr. Devitt sneeringly does, to draw comparisons between the men and their officers. The "palatial" dugouts he talks about were, as I know from very personal experience, nothing like as safe as the one on the stage, and it must be admitted that there had to be some sort of headquarters to run things from, and to run from things! As Mr. Devitt probably knows the actual fighting conditions for both men and company officers were much the same, and there certainly was no difference between the courage and fighting spirit of either.

It was, indeed, the comradeship and the unity between men and officers that won us the ultimate victory, and it was that comradeship which had been the life of trench life that provided the writer, at any rate, with the finest memories of his life.

 Maybe "Journey's End" shows the futility of war. To me it seemed to show something far greater, and that was the overwhelming courage and the magnificent sacrifice of the soul of the British civilian soldier.
 To many of those gallant souls it was the Journey's End indeed, but there are greater things than death, and one is to die that others might live.

FOR THE BLIND

Sir,—On closing the headquarters of the campaign for the blind, 1203 Broad Street, on Saturday evening, November 23, the chairman and committee representing the Western Division, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, desire to thank all those persons, organizations and helpers who have so fully contributed with the affectionate interest and understanding of the past and present contemplated work for the blind, whereby the light of hopefulness will be instilled into many hearts whose self-respect has been tottering on the rocks of isolation, creating self-depreciation of their utility as working units, a sequence of disability, particularly at advancing age.

From the smallest contributor to the largest, we have experienced such a warmth of good fellowship, assistance and expression of co-operation that the memory of their generosity of hearts and purses will confirm the faith we had in the response from the beginning.
 Victoria can be proud of the response as typifying in no mean material measure what persons gifted with sight owe to the blind, for a revelation of the good within ourselves. The carbon incrustations formed by our speeding commercial life have been removed to make clearer and revive our better natures.

"There is a destiny that makes us brothers,
 None goes his way alone.
 All that we send into the lives of others,
 Comes back into our own."

It would be impossible to enumerate every individual contributor or helper, but we desire to say for the great success attained, like Tiny Tim: "God bless us every one!"

PENALTY ON OVERDUE TAXES

Sir,—I often hear people say what we want is a business corporation. Whether my case is under the municipal laws or the statute books, or a local hold-up, I don't know. This is my complaint: I have for years paid my taxes by instalments, whenever I had the cash to do so, thinking by so doing I have helped the council discharge its duties in a better way than borrowing from a bank. Unfortunately, I owed a sum of $25 on the last day before the penalty is enforced, and could not pay for a matter of two weeks afterwards. On payment I was booked 8 per cent on a twelve month basis, or over 200 per cent interest.

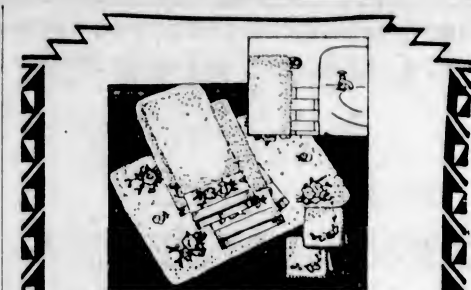

This Week's Great Day

Death of Cardinal Wolsey

On the 30th November, 1530, Cardinal Wolsey, one of the greatest statesmen of the Tudor days, died at the age of fifty-five. He was the last and the most magnificent of the many illustrious clerical statesmen who figured so prominently in the history of Britain, and since his time all the ministers of the British Crown, with the exception of Bishop Gardiner in the reign of Mary, have been laymen.
 Thomas Wolsey was born in 1475 at Ipswich, where his father, who was a butcher by trade, had amassed a considerable fortune, and also an evil reputation, by his illegal practices, which included the selling of bad meat and the giving of short change.

Wolsey was educated at Oxford University, where he had a distinguished career, and secured the degree of a bachelor of arts at the early age of fifteen. Two years later he was appointed a master at one of the colleges, where he had among his pupils the sons of the Marquis of Dorset, who presented him with his first clerical living soon after his ordination, which took place in 1498. The Marquis died in 1501, but Wolsey speedily found other powerful patrons, and his rise to fame and fortune was a rapid one.

At the age of thirty-two he became chaplain to King Henry VII, by whom he was entrusted with several diplomatic missions of an important nature, and who appointed him Dean of Lincoln. Immediately upon the accession of Henry VIII in 1509 Wolsey was given the position of almoner to the young king, whose insatiable companion he soon became. During the first two years of the new reign he was given six ecclesiastical preferments, and in 1511 he was created a privy councillor, a position which gave him for the first time a controlling voice in the government of the realm.

 Life would defeat us
 As we go by;
 Yet, can she cheat us,
 Though she may try?

Though she forget the Promises made,
 Think, can we yet be
 Wholly betrayed?

For all her scornful
 Of hope's bright gleams,
 In youth's glad morning
 She set fair dreams.

She gave us laughter
 And love's sweet cheer;
 Then what comes after
 We need not fear.

Though youth must perish,
 This boon endures;
 Brave hearts still cherish
 Bright, bygone lures.

COMMUNITY EFFORT IS NECESSARY

Mr. Frank Higgins, K.C., Tells Kiwanians Civic Spirit Essential to Progress of Victoria

REVIEWS STORY OF NATIVE PROVINCE

"To glimpse the future, one should know of the past. Our past shows that our greatest task lies ahead. Our city will grow in proportion with the united community effort put forth to draw people from lands across the sea to this fair and beautiful country," stated Mr. Frank Higgins, K.C., prominent Victoria lawyer, in addressing the Kiwanians Club yesterday at its weekly meeting in the Empress Hotel grillroom. Mr. Higgins, who is a member of one of the pioneer families that settled on Vancouver Island in the early days, gave a comprehensive review of the early history of the native province of British Columbia, telling of the important events in which Captain James Cook, Captain George Vancouver, Alexander Mackenzie, Simon Fraser, Dr. John McLaughlin, Sir James Douglas and others played such outstanding roles.

The speaker said that the City of Victoria was not called Fort Camosun, but that the city was first named Fort Albion, and later was called Victoria, named after Queen Victoria, "whom Kipling described as the queenliest of women and the womanliest of queens."

PRaises PIONEERS

"We owe a great debt to our fathers, who anchored the capital of British Columbia at Victoria for all time," declared Mr. Higgins. He went on to allude to the work of Victorians in inaugurating a programme of advertising to bring the scenic beauties of the city to the attention of outsiders, which had been carried on with great success, as exemplified by the large number of tourists who visit Victoria and Vancouver Island yearly.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Higgins for his interesting discourse on the motion sponsored by Mr. G. H. Stevens.

President Brooke Stephenson urged all Kiwanians to attend the laying of the corner stone of the new Boy Scouts' permanent headquarters building on Johnson Street next Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. Hon. R. E. Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor, and Mayor Herbert Anson will attend the ceremony and later address the Kiwanis Club luncheon in the Empress Hotel, he said.

MODERN HOME IS EXHIBITED

TODAY SEES OPENING BY CAMERON LUMBER CO. OF "WOODHOLM," UPLANDS

Public Invited During Afternoon and Evening—Many New Articles of Equipment

Today sees the opening of the Cameron model home, "Woodholm," in the Uplands. Situated not three minutes' walk from the car terminus, on the corner of Upper Terrace Road and Cotswold Road, "Woodholm" is within the easy reach of all, and the Cameron Lumber Company extends a hearty greeting to visitors between the hours of 2 in the afternoon and 10 o'clock at night.

This invitation offers a unique opportunity to all prospective home builders to examine many features of modern convenient equipment in practice, which hitherto have been but articles in builders' magazines. "Woodholm" has been built by the Cameron Lumber Co. in an effort to promote house construction entirely of wood. The plans, selected from several drawn up for the West Coast Lumbermen's Association by Gardner J. Gwynn, are well chosen to suit the average home builder's requirements in size.

No less than thirty-six nationally advertised articles have been incorporated in the construction. A particularly interesting feature is the use of Balsam Wool, the patent house insulation. Platte shakes, milled to gain an effect of rustic cedar siding make the exterior attractive and effective.

"Woodholm" will be open to the public for a period of ten days, closing December 7. No one interested in the subject of house construction should fail to take this opportunity of examining one of Victoria's most modern homes.

One morning while the children were eating breakfast, Milford put two heaping spoonfuls of sugar in his cocoa.

"I should think one spoonful would be enough," objected his sister.

"I should think so, too," he replied, "but it ain't."

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Pain Needed
External treatments seldom banish piles. Real cure comes from the inside. The blood is made clean, the bowels are kept soft, the piles disappear.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must first treat the circulation—send the blood to the extremities. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Outcomes and cutting won't do it. J. J. Leitch, M.D., a specialist, has at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He named his prescription HEM-RID, and tried it in 1900 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-RID is a drugless remedy everywhere under guarantee. It can always be found at McFarlane Drug Co., Vancouver. Dr. McFarlane will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer. SAANICH ROADS
Sir.—Having occasion to go Up-Island each month as far as Courtenay and Alberni one can't help but notice the excellent condition of the roads under the supervision of the Provincial Government compared with those under municipal control. The present state of the roads in parts of Saanich, particularly from Moodyville to Mount Newton Cross road, is absolutely disgraceful, and now that the Provincial Government has taken over this road, is it not time that improvements were commenced?

FRANCE SHIES AT PROPOSED TREATY

Mr. H. W. Nevinnon, British Journalist Visiting City, Talks of Disarmament Outlook

Yesterday Mr. Henry W. Nevinnon, one of the most outstanding of British Journalists, arrived in Victoria. Mr. Nevinnon, who accompanied Lord Raman, Macdonald, upon his recent visit to the United States, is of the opinion that France will prove to be the chief stumbling block in the limitation treaty between the five main naval powers of the world. "She did not like the Washington Conference," he said, and she strongly resented being made a party to the naval pact.

Mr. Nevinnon was a war correspondent for The Daily Chronicle during the Greco-Turkish war of 1917, and the Boer War from 1899 to 1902. He was a representative of the Macedonian relief committee in the Monastir district in 1903.

In 1904 he went to Central Africa and wrote a series of dramatic exposures of the Portuguese slave trade in Angola.

In 1908 he went to Russia and was an eyewitness of the street fighting which took place in Moscow.

As the representative of The Manchester Guardian he went to India in 1907, was at the Barcelona revolution of 1909, and reported the Spanish Morocco campaign at Melilla for The London Daily News.

After service with the Albanian relief fund in 1911, he was a war correspondent of The Daily Chronicle with the Bulgarian army in 1912.

At the outbreak of the Great War he was in Berlin and afterwards organized the "Friends' Ambulance unit," which served between Dunkirk and Ypres.

The Dardanelles campaign of 1915 was reported by Mr. Nevinnon for The Manchester Guardian, and he witnessed the landing and evacuation at Suvla Bay. He was wounded in August of that year at the attack on Scimitar Hill, and was later a correspondent at Salonika and in Egypt.

In 1926 he was sent to Iraq, Syria and Palestine by The Manchester Guardian, and in 1927 reported the Geneva naval conference.

The great silver "cigar" of the R101 was drifting lazily over the interested, upturned faces of a great crowd. Said one spectator: "Can you tell me what relation a loaf of bread is to that airship?" "What nonsense!" replied another onlooker. "There can be no relationship."

"Oh, yes, there is!" said the first speaker. "A loaf of bread is a necessity and the airship is an invention, and everybody knows that necessity is the mother of invention."

TURKEY SHOOT WILL BE HELD

16th Canadian Scottish Will Stage Novel Competition in Musketry—Between Sections

The new indoor target rifles recently furnished to the Canadian Scottish regiment by the Department of Militia and Defence have been a great incentive to the musketry of the regiment, according to Captain S. Henson, in charge of the miniature ranges. Captain Henson and his musketry staff of Sergeants Hegan, Ashe and Watson are arranging a big turkey shoot to be run off in December at the miniature ranges in the Armouries. The idea of the musketry department is the development of the efficiency of the sections rather than determining individual ability, and they accordingly have arranged a very novel competition.

Each peace time section in the regiment, which is composed of the section leader and three men, will have each member fire ten rounds application. The section having the highest score will have the choice of the four largest turkeys of the sixteen being put up by the battalion. The second section will be awarded four geese, the third section four ducks and the fourth section four chickens.

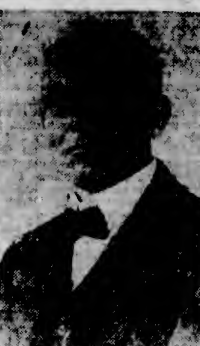

The sergeants of the regiment will have an intercompany shoot. Teams of six N.C.O.'s per company from the four companies, and also from the battalion headquarters, will compete for the next six largest turkeys, and a similar intercompany competition will take place among the officers of five teams of six officers each, who will compete for the six smallest turkeys.

The competition will be open to sections from the signaller, stretcher bearers, brass band, pipe band and Vickers gun group. In all it is expected that some seventy-five sections will compete. The personnel of the competition is obliged to attend at least two parades in December prior to the shoot. This regulation is being put forward to admit of recently joined men taking part and at the same time provide a safeguard against a last-minute arrival.

The Canadian Scottish regiment will hold its first march-out on Monday next, December 2, at 8 p.m., when all platoon commanders will be required to put forward entry forms to the musketry department for their various sections. The competition will commence on Thursday, December 5, and will be carried on as expeditiously as the range accommodation will allow on every Thursday until Christmas.

INVESTIGATION OF LEVEL CROSSINGS COMING TO CLOSE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 26.—The first great national survey of the level crossing situation throughout Canada comes to a climax in Ottawa on December 10, according to Hon. Frank Oliver, who is in Vancouver today. Mr. Oliver, since retiring from membership on the Railway Commission, has been that board's adviser in level crossing problems.

Uniformity of crossing signs and signals is the objective of the conference, said Mr. Oliver. His present visit to the coast is part of a Dominion-wide tour for obtaining the views of provincial governments, municipal officers and automobile clubs.

With his report before them the railway Commissioners will meet the representatives of the railways to discuss the best method of procedure.

To bring about ideal conditions Mr. Oliver stated that co-operation would be necessary by the Railway Board, the railway companies, the Legislatures of all the provinces and through them the municipalities, urban and rural.

New Uses for Wood
Although each year sees more substitutes on the Canadian market, the amount of wood used remains practically constant. This is due to the new uses being continually found for wood, as a result of the great amount of research now being carried on with a view to finding new uses for wood in its natural condition or by modifications, chemically or mechanically.

City & District

Well Known in Victoria—The late Mr. James D. Hodge, well-known Seattle banker and capitalist, was a frequent visitor here, and was a member of the Union Club. His death is mourned by a wide circle of friends on both sides of the line.

Conservative Dinner—An amateur concert and dance will be given by Ward Seven Sanich Conservative Association in St. Martin's Hall, Obed Avenue, on Thursday night. There will be prizes for the best amateur turns, and tombola prizes will be awarded. Applications will be received by Mrs. Howcroft, corner of Burrard and Grilla Roads, phone 7335-L.

Member of Olympic Committee—A visitor to the city during the week was J. Howard Crocker, member of the Canadian Olympic Committee. He thought that Vancouver would be selected as headquarters for the Canadian Olympic games, in which event the trials would evidently be held there. Commenting on the material for the next Olympiad, to be held at Los Angeles, Mr. Crocker stated that several young athletes were coming up who would give a good account of themselves.

Damages Awarded—In a judgment handed down yesterday by Judge Langman in the case of Mrs. Isabel M. Cutter against G. N. Dickson et al., the court declared plaintiff is entitled to damages against all three defendants. The action arose through plaintiff being run down by an auto driven by one of the three defendants, who is a minor, in December, 1928, when crossing at the intersection between Yates and Fort Streets at Harrison Street. The Streets at Harrison Street. The younger defendant was joined by his parents as defendants. The court fixed the damages at $500.

Forest Fire Patrols

The Forest Service of the Department of the Interior has found that, by the use of aircraft equipped for winter flying, it is now possible to commence the patrol of forest areas in Manitoba and Saskatchewan in March instead of late May, as formerly. In this way fires started by trappers, prospectors and others, during the winter months, are detected and reported and means taken for their suppression before they attain serious proportions.

A Scot about to set off on his first visit to London was receiving helpful advice from a townsman who had had experience in the Metropolis. "If ye want something cheap to eat," said the mentor, "ye should gang tae a big restaurant in the Strand, near Trafalgar Square. Last time I was there I got three fish rissoles, bread and butter, a cup of coffee, and a fine Winter overcoat for a shilling."

Checking the Compass

Since 1880, field officers of the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior, in the course of their regular surveying and mapping operations, have made about 25,000 measurements of the direction of pointing of the magnetic compass needle. Such measurements are taken by the surveyor in a few minutes, at very little additional expense when he is already on the ground with the necessary instruments.

Weddings

EDMONDS—HILL

A pretty wedding took place on Saturday evening at the home of the bride's mother, 3213 Shelbourne Street, when the Rev. S. G. Blair officiated in marriage Christina Victoria Edmonds, daughter of Mr. R. Hill, and Mr. Herbert James Edmonds, only son of Mr. H. Edmonds, of Port Alberni. The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. G. Hill, of Sidney, looked charming in her wedding dress of peach crepe de Chine, made with tight bodice and long skirt, trimmed with silver lace, and she carried a shower bouquet of roses and carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss K. Hill, sister of the bride, wore a dress of tea rose yellow made in princess style, and carried a bouquet of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums. The groom was attended by his father, Mr. H. Edmonds. Miss Sadie McKenzie, cousin of the bride, played the wedding march. Following the service, a reception was held attended by about forty friends of the bride and groom. The out-of-town guests included Mrs. Morrow, Mrs. Lowndale, Mr. Wallace King, of Shawanigan Lake; Mr. H. Edmonds, of Port Alberni; Mr. and Mrs. A. Hill, Mr. K. Hill and Mrs. V. Simpson, of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. G. Hill, Miss H. Hill, Miss I. Hill, Mr. D. Bowcott, of Sidney; and Mr. and Mrs. S. Blanchard, of Texada Island. The bride and groom left on the midnight boat for Vancouver and Seattle, where they will spend their honeymoon. For traveling, the bride wore a tailored dress of salmon silk crepe, trimmed with fawn and a brown fur-trimmed coat, and metallic hat to match. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Edmonds will make their home at Shawanigan Lake.

HELGESEN—MINNS

A quiet wedding took place at the Grandview United Church parsonage, Vancouver, on November 21, when Rev. Robert Morrison officiated in marriage Marion Isabel, only daughter of Mr. James Minns, of Athabasca, Alta., and Mr. Charles H. W. Helgesen, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Helgesen, of Metchoshin. After a honeymoon on the Mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Helgesen will reside at "Kelvin Grove," Metchoshin.

Y.P.S. OF BELMONT CHURCH MEETS

The regular meeting of the Young People's Society of Belmont United Church was held on Monday evening in the schoolroom of the church, with thirty-three present. Mr. W. E. Cook acted as chairman. Miss Elsie Barnes gave the Bible reading. The meeting took the form of a debate, "Resolved, That Canada offers more opportunities to young people than the United States." Those taking part were as follows: Miss Winnifred Chapman and Miss Lillian Perry, the affirmative side; and Miss Kitty Dawes and Miss Katy Peck, the negative side. This proved interesting, some good points being raised by both sides. After some consideration the affirmative side were adjudged the winners. The judges were Mrs. J. Hall, Miss Isabel Chapman and Mr. W. F. Emery. A vote of thanks was then tendered to the debaters by Miss Isabel Chapman, and to the judges by Mrs. James Hood, after which a couple of games were played.

EUROPE SEEING SIGNIFICANCE OF PEACE MOVE

Dean Bollert, of University of British Columbia, Addresses Women's Canadian Club

BIG QUESTIONS OCCUPY ENGLAND

In Europe today there is a bigger sentiment for peace and more talk and thought for peace than ever before in the history of the world, asserts Miss Bollert, Dean of Women at the University of British Columbia, who was the speaker at the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Miss Bollert has but recently returned from a visit to Europe, where she went primarily as a representative of the Women's University Clubs of Canada to the international conference at Geneva, and at the same time attended the World Federation of Education. Great interest was shown in Miss Bollert's impression as "An Idler in Europe." The downstairs auditorium at the Empress was packed, and accorded the speaker a very appreciative reception which was put into more concrete form at the close of her address when Miss Cann, president of the Victoria University Women's Club, expressed the thanks of the audience and Mrs. P. B. Scudrah, the Women's Canadian Club president, presented the guest of the afternoon with a sheaf of chrysanthemums.

Miss Bollert's impressions were confined chiefly to those which she gathered during her visit to England, which had evidently so engaged her interest that the remainder of her trip was merely an incident. In London and at Oxford, Cambridge and elsewhere, she had studied, as closely as time permitted, the political, social, education and economic conditions. Her references to the Labor Government and the question of unemployment were of central interest, and in both connections she introduced the name of Miss Margaret Bondfield, England's first woman Cabinet member, who holds the portfolio of Minister of Labor. A strong religious motive seemed to be the keynote of Miss Bondfield's life. Miss Bollert recalled the trend of Miss Bondfield's religious message of congratulation sent from Miss Maud Royden's congregation in Ecclestone Square.

Two weeks later it was present in the church when Miss Bondfield's reply came and in which she expressed the hope that she would not disappoint her friends, but that, after all, she was simply trying in her way to bring the Kingdom of God on earth. Margaret Bondfield, Miss Bollert commented here, "may not have fulfilled up to the present, but she has the hopes of some of our most ardent admirers, but she has probably done everything that anyone in her position could possibly do at a very difficult time."

EMPLOYMENT

Not much headway had been made, it was true, in solving England's unemployment problem. But the trouble at present as the result of its deflated currency and the opportunity which this gave her to carry on a big export trade, every country in Europe was suffering from unemployment. Germany had more unemployed than England; Switzerland was suffering from it; France, which was immune from the trouble at present as the result of its deflated currency and the opportunity which this gave her to carry on a big export trade, every country in Europe was suffering from unemployment. Germany had more unemployed than England; Switzerland was suffering from it; France, which was immune from the trouble at present as the result of its deflated currency and the opportunity which this gave her to carry on a big export trade, every country in Europe was suffering from unemployment.

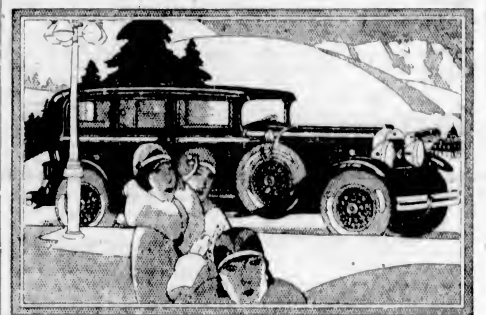

One of the gravest aspects of this condition of prolonged unemployment and the Government measures of relief introduced to meet it was touched on by the speaker when she added that a great many people are coming to look upon idleness as a natural instead of an abnormal condition. To illustrate she quoted a humorous story about an old man whom some friend was congratulating because his son had a job. "Yes, thank God, but he'll soon be enough to be on the dole," the old man had remarked. Many young people were growing up without employment, leading a hand-to-mouth existence. Figures showed that 300,000 men under twenty-five years of age were out of work, and the suggestion had been made by the Government that to meet the more-than-merely-unemployment effect of such existence on young people whose characters were barely formed and whose lives still lay before them, a similar number of men over sixty-five years of age who are in jobs should be pensioned off in some way and the young men given their positions. The war had had the effect of robbing England of a heavy percentage of men between the ages of twenty-five and forty-five.

"It is really noticeable in England today. One misses men of this age," commented Miss Bollert, who recalled the unusually youthful appearance of the police, as compared, for instance, with the same class of official in France.

But despite the great and depressing problem of unemployment in England, it has been pointed out by Mr. Snowden that there were in deposit in the various thrift organizations of the country over a billion and a half pounds "saved up by the working men and women of the country." This alone showed that England was not going straight to the dogs because of unemployment. The MacDonald Government was moving cautiously, prompted by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, "A conservative man who is anxious that his party shall move safely, even if slowly."

Studebaker's President Eight

Holds World's Highest Records for Speed and Endurance

THE PRESIDENT EIGHT STATE SEDAN—for seven

REGISTRATION figures throughout the Dominion reflect the universal prestige won by Studebaker's President Eight—and never was public preference so richly merited.

Merely to create a single car capable of running continuously at more than 68 mile speed for 30,000 miles would be a triumph. To design and produce in quantity cars so uniformly excellent that four of them could be picked blindly by impartial officials and win the world championship—that is achievement.

Have you seen this President Eight? Have you driven it? Do you know this champion Studebaker eight costs no more to buy or to run than ordinary sixes?

URGE WORK ON CITY FLOAT

Port Alberni Council to Investigate Reason for Delay—Fishermen Petition for Better Lighting

RESTRICTIONS FOR BUILDING ADVISED

PORT ALBERNI, Nov. 26.—At the meeting of the City Council last evening, Alderman George Bird took exception to the way in which the Government was handling the alteration to be made to the city float, and suggested that the city clerk be instructed to write to Mr. A. W. Neill, M.P., asking that action be taken immediately. Mr. Bird drew attention to the fact that Mr. Neill had advised the council some months ago that money had been set aside for this work, but up to the present nothing had been done.

Alderman Hamilton stated that he also had approached Mr. Neill to see if something could not be done concerning the sanitary conditions at the float, but that he could not get any definite information. The matter was stood over for investigation.

A petition containing five pages of names was received from the fishermen of the Canal and West Coast requesting that better lighting facilities be provided on the city float. The fishermen felt that they were giving all their business to the city and were entitled to a landing place which was properly lighted. The council were of the opinion that the matter could be arranged, but felt that it would be better to leave the matter until the extension to the float had been completed.

Alderman Bird stated that the float should have been completed in the spring, but that the spring fishing season had come and gone. The summer fishing season had come and gone, and the fall fishing season was nearing its end, and no start had as yet been made. In his opinion, it would not be much use this year at all.

BUILDING RESTRICTIONS
Alderman Turner stated that it was time something was done regarding building restrictions in the city. At present there was nothing to prevent a person from building an undesirable building alongside a first-class residence. He considered that private garages should be built at least fifteen feet from the street, which would give the city a much finer appearance. As matters now stood, it seemed to be impossible under the present by-law to restrict of control building.

YOUNG PEOPLE MEET
DUNCAN, Nov. 26.—Twenty-five members attended the regular meeting of the Young People's League at the United Church Monday evening. The literary vice-president, Miss Etta Hood, was in charge of the programme. A debate on "Resolved that women should give up their careers after marriage" brought forward some splendid arguments by Miss Muriel Herd and Mr. Gerald Prevost for the affirmative, Miss Nancy McKean and Mr. Harry Hayes for the negative. The judges, Rev. W. F. Burns, Mr. A. Burkholder and Mr. R. A. Thorpe, decided in favor of the affirmative. The young people will attend the thanksgiving meeting of the W.M.S. in the church on Thursday evening. Dr. Hugh Dobson will be the speaker at the meeting on December 9.

Arrange for Vaudeville At Nanaimo

NANAIMO, Nov. 26.—Meeting at the home of Mrs. W. Mortlock, Kennedy Street, last evening, the Canadian Red Cross Society made arrangements to promote a vaudeville entertainment with Mrs. Frank Reynolds and Mrs. A. R. Ross as general conveners. They intend to advertise for chorus girls and to interest different sections of the community in the production.

A substantial balance was shown on a statement presented by the treasurer, Mrs. H. Adamson, of the Shaughnessy soldiers' picnic held here last summer. It was decided to visit the Vancouver Hospital on St. Valentine's Day and expend the surplus on gifts and comforts for the patients.

Three new members were enrolled, Mrs. Annie Weeks, Mrs. W. D. Calder and Mrs. Harold Wallbank.

The regular meeting will be held on the fourth Monday of each month in the future. It was decided to hold the annual general meeting on the fourth Monday in January.

Following the business session, which was presided over by Mr. V. B. Harrison, and which was noticeably enthusiastic, Mr. and Mrs. Mortlock entertained the assembly at a prize and Mr. Cooper second prize.

SHAWNIGAN CONCERT IS GREAT SUCCESS

Victoria Artists Help Choral Society Provide Excellent Entertainment

SHAWNIGAN, Nov. 26.—Mr. H. Davis, who brought a concert party to the hall on Friday evening, is due the thanks of the community at large and especially of all those who listened to the excellent programme of vocal and instrumental music which the artists from Victoria so kindly provided to help a good cause. The concert was held under the auspices of the Shawnigan Lake Choral Society, who were directed by Miss Lonsdale in two very pleasing groups of songs: the male voice choir singing "Scarborough Fair," "Johnny, Come to Hillo" and "Born along John," and the full choral giving "The Chase," German, and Dunhill's "Keel Row."

Miss Constance Eford delighted her audience with two groups of vocal solos: "I Love Thee," Greig, "Yonder," and "O Divine Redeemer," Gounod, and "Take Joy Home," Kramer.

The young violinist, Mr. George Tate, showed considerable talent and skill in the four selections he played, Beethoven's "Sonata in E Major," "Pair of Roomers," Kreisler's "Andante Cantabile," Tchaikovsky and "Norwegian Dance," Greig.

The soprano solo sung by Master Clarence Kirchin, who, until recently was in training under Mr. Davis, gave a great amount of pleasure. He was to have sung also in duet with Master Richard Eaton, but the latter was unfortunately unable to be present on account of a bad cold.

Messrs. J. W. Petch and W. H. Jacques were much enjoyed in their duet, "Watchman, What of the Night" by Sargison. Mr. Petch's two very beautiful solos, "Hear Me, Ye Winds and Waves," Handel, and "My Lovely Cella," Higgins, evoked hearty applause, as did Mr. Jacques' rendering of Cowen's "Border Ballad" and "Slumber Song" by Somerville.

The concert was followed by supper, which was served by the lady members of the Choral Society, and then dancing continued till midnight. Altogether a most enjoyable evening was spent and the sum of $10 was cleared, a like sum going out for the hire of the hall and the orchestra. This money will go to help pay off the debt on the pianos which were placed in the district schools some time ago.

C.N.R. Accepts Tenders for New Cars for Lines

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—Following closely on the announcement by the Canadian National Railways of its intention to expend an amount in the neighborhood of $30,000,000 on freight and passenger cars and locomotives for Canadian lines during 1936, tenders have been called for the first lot of equipment.

This consists of 3,000 box cars, 200 refrigerator cars, fifteen express refrigerator cars and twenty-five tank cars. The value of this initial order will run into several million dollars.

Three companies will be the chief beneficiaries—the Canadian Car & Foundry Company, Montreal; National Steel Car Corporation, Hamilton, Ont.; and Eastern Car Company, New Glasgow, N.S.

"LOWLAND WOLF" WILL BE REPEATED

Sir John Martin Harvey Will Be Seen in Noted Spanish Play at Royal

"The Lowland Wolf," which will be presented at the Royal Victoria Theatre tonight, is the latest addition to the repertoire of Sir John Martin Harvey, and it met with a remarkable reception in England. Translated from the Spanish of Angel Guimera by Wallace Gillingham and Guido Marburg, this play will be numbered among the most popular of all Martin Harvey's productions. It affords him a very remarkable and powerful part in "Manelich," the shepherd of the mountains, and Miss N. de Silva has a fine chance in the character of "Maria." The play is regarded as a classic in Spain, and in Barcelona a statue of "Manelich" has been erected by public subscription. The play has also been performed in every Continental country, and the actors have formed the subject of the opera "Tiefand" (so successfully performed at Covent Garden) and of "Fuefaldino" in the repertoire of the Sicilian players. The play has been specially painted, and the overture and incidental music specially composed for the production, while many of the dresses have been imported from Barcelona.

COLUMBIA The beautiful Hawaiian Islands provide the background for "His Captive Woman," the George Fitzmaurice production for First National, showing at the Columbia Theatre for the last times today. Milton Sills and Dorothy Mackall are co-featured.

CAPITOL When Philip Dunning wrote their dramatic thunderbolt, "Broadway," which held New York City for a week, most two years, they little dreamed that even the sensational action of their play could be broadened by the camera into the spectacular super-being screened at the Capitol Theatre all this week. The difference between the play, compellingly absorbing as it was, and the super-production by Carl Laemmle, Jr., is simply the vast difference between the scope of the stage and that of the camera—the former confined to one setting and a few principals, the latter unbounded in its range of story, settings and cast.

DOMINION Harold Lloyd, who is recognized all over the world as a past master at putting thrills on the screen, outdoes himself in his first all-talking picture, "Welcome Danger," at the Dominion Theatre all this week. Underground Chinatown in San Francisco provides the setting for the "game" which is guaranteed to send chills racing through the blood of even the most anaemic picture fan.

PLAYHOUSE How a dispute at his christening fastened upon a week-old baby the name of George Washington, and the unbelievable funny and amazing experiences into which he is plunged by his determination to live up to his name, are the plot of "George Washington Cohen," in which Tiffany-Sisahl presents George Jessel today at the Playhouse Theatre.

Playhouse Will Present Musical Comedy Company

"Talkies" may be talkies and pictures may be pictures, but Manager Calladine of the Playhouse, is of the opinion that, in order to enjoy either, the programme must be augmented by real flesh and blood human beings, and the Playhouse patrons may get the best as well as the most for their admission prices, he announces the opening of the

Festival Company Will Appear Here All Next Week

At the Royal Victoria Theatre on Monday evening the Festival Company will begin an engagement presenting a series of seven Shakespearean plays in the order named: Monday evening, December 2, "Much Ado About Nothing"; Tuesday evening, December 3, "Romeo and Juliet"; Wednesday matinee, December 4, "A Midsummer Night's Dream"; Wednesday evening, December 4, "The Merry Wives of Windsor"; Thursday evening, December 5, "Twelfth Night"; Saturday matinee, December 7, "Macbeth"; Saturday evening, December 7, "A Midsummer Night's Dream." It will be seen that this group of plays offers a very wide variety in comedy, history, romance and tragedy, and therefore it will bring forward the important members of the organization in strongly contrasting roles. Nearly all the players that will be seen this year were members of the organization when it appeared at the Royal Victoria Theatre just a twelvemonth ago. Those who will be especially remembered are George Hayes, Wilfrid Walter, Roy Byford, Eric Maxon, Joyce Bland and Mary Holder.

Heughan Trained For Future Under Famous Master

William Heughan, the world-famous actor-singer, who will return here to give concerts in the Shrine Auditorium on December 7, and 10, was born in the small town of Dalbeattie, Kirkcubrightshire. As a boy he spent a useful term of service in the church choir as a boy alto, and later on a bass, just before he left home to study in London. To this day those who heard the unexampled powerful vocal prowess of that young man, and his holding the balance on more than one occasion against a dozen sopranos. One against fifteen—what odds! Many visitors from the cities used to remark that he would be a great singer some day. If he trained and studied under a good teacher. Luckily he himself determined that none but a great teacher would be good enough for that purpose. So his real training started when he succeeded in visiting Albert Visetti, the famous singer and the famous pianist, who was at the Royal College of Music, London, interested in him and taking Heughan as a pupil.

Unc' Billy Grows Bolder
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Appetite, so we are told; Sometimes makes the timid bold. Old Mother Nature.

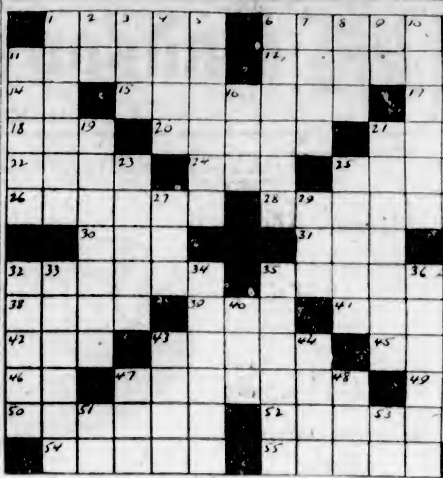

Unc' Billy Possum sat down on the stone wall along the edge of the Old Orchard. Bushes grew there that old stone wall and so Unc' Billy was hidden. But he could look out and see what was going on. Now, it was not far from the end of the old stone wall over to the chicken yard of Farmer Brown's Boy. It was dusk, almost dark. Farmer Brown's Boy had shut up the hens for the night. Unc' Billy had watched him do it and dreadful disappointment had taken possession of him as he watched. There was just one chance and one chance only, and that was that the little door leading from the henhouse to the henyard might not be closed. Unc' Billy remembered that little door because especially for the hens to use.

It grew darker. Farmer Brown's Boy and Farmer Brown had gone into the house. So had Bowser the Hound and Flip the Terrier. Common sense still told Unc' Billy to keep away from that henhouse, but hunger and great desire urged him to at least go over and investigate. "Unc' Billy began to get uneasy. He crept down off the stone wall and through the bushes. He peered across toward the henyard. He looked over toward Farmer Brown's house. He could see the lighted windows. "Ah reckon Ah can look around a little and hurt no one," said Unc' Billy to himself. "Ah reckon there isn't anything to be afraid of right now."

So Unc' Billy grew bolder and shuffled across over the henhouse. He could hear the hens cawing uneasily inside. Now and then there was a low caw. Unc' Billy's mouth watered. It seemed to him that never in all his life had he wanted anything as he now wanted one of those hens. He couldn't think of anything else. He knew that if he could get into that henhouse there would be no trouble in getting one of those hens. The next thing would be to get one of those stupid birds without waking the others. He had no doubt that he could do this if only he could get in there.

So Unc' Billy went around the

Corbin Coal Co. Properties Are Sold by Court

VANCOUVER, Nov. 26.—Sale of the properties of Corbin Coal Co., Ltd., a British Columbia company, owned by the late John Corbin, was made today by Mr. J. P. Mather, Supreme Court registrar, under an order of Chief Justice Morrison.

The sale was ordered at the suit of Mr. F. J. Konners and Mr. C. J. Faine, of Spokane, trustees for holders of debentures totalling $880,000. Action was instituted following default by the company in payment of interest on October 1.

Prohibitionists Ask Government For New Measure

VANCOUVER, Nov. 26.—Enthusiasm was roused at the Provincial Prohibition Convention this morning when the resolutions committee, reporting through Mr. G. O. Buchanan, of New Westminster, presented a resolution reaffirming the convention's declaration in favor of a provincial prohibition law. The eight years of Government control was characterized as "pernicious" and the resolution called upon the Provincial Government to enact a prohibitory law at its next session.

INDIGESTION TORTURE

Pain and Suffocating Pressure Until Tanlac Brought Relief

Only those who are tortured by indigestion cramps after eating, and suffocating pressure of gas, can realize the relief, the joy, which came to Mrs. Odelle Langlois, as Tanlac freed her of every trace of Bismark Trouble.

For 25 years, she suffered. "Food was like poison," she writes from 710 Arthur Street, Windsor, Ont. "I would cramp me and gas would blow me up so I could hardly catch my breath, and I would become dizzy and faint. I became so weak and nervous that my daughter had to do my housework. I spent enough on treatments to buy a home, and it almost broke my heart to think that I did not use Tanlac before. Because four bottles of this grand medicine made me a well woman, and it almost broke my heart to think that I did not use Tanlac before. I have regained my health and strength. My husband also used Tanlac for Kidney Trouble and it has made a new man of him."

If you are suffering, don't wait. Get Tanlac today. It is pure and good—and it must help you or your money will be promptly refunded. It costs less than 2c a dose—less than 6c a day to get well. Ask your druggist.

Scout News and Notices

District News—The Old Wolves' Council will meet on Monday evening, December 2, at 7:30 o'clock, at Oaklands Troop and Pack headquarters, corner of Cedar Hill Road and Fernwood Road.

Third Victoria Pack—At the last meeting a very enjoyable evening was spent both in work and games. Baloo Phillips gave instruction in first star work, while Akela took charge of the Cubs who are working for second star. Exciting games were played, including "kangaroo" and "somersaults," Akela taking charge of the recruits in both games, and "animal zoo," under Baloo. Richard Williams passed his ball-throwing test, and has gained his first star. Jeffrey Fairweather and Albert Williams also passed in ball-throwing. Akela held a special second star class at his home on Friday evening when excellent progress was made in signaling.

St. Mary's Troop (seniors)—The last meeting opened as usual, after which instruction in signaling was given by A.S.M. Ross. S.M. Mooney instructed in first aid for second class, while Troop Leader Grant took charge of the remainder of the troop, in first aid for first class. A thrilling game followed.

St. Mary's Troop (junior)—Instruction in second class work was given by A.S.M. Gornall, at the last meeting. This was followed by the playing of a very welcome "warm-up-up" games.

St. Mary's South Pack—The meeting opened with the howl, followed by roll call and inspection. The pack had a good game of "zoom train" before beginning work at their first and second star tests. The recruits tried the law game for the first time and got on very well. The sides chose dusty hockey and the whole pack joined in with great spirit. This week a number of promotions were made. Peter Marchant was promoted to acting sixer and Bobbie Iverson to second of the White Six. John Meredith was promoted to second, but will take the place of acting sixer until Hugh MacDonald, who is ill, returns to the pack, and David Anley was promoted to acting sixer and Lee Leighton to second of the Tawny Six. John Meredith, Bobbie Iverson and Lee Leighton renewed their promise and received their first service star and second stripe, the two latter Cubes also receiving their service star.

The Cubs were reminded to bring toys, books or games for the Scouts' toy shop at the next meeting. The meeting was closed with howl and prayer.

Fairfield Pack—After the grand howl and inspection the meeting opened with a realistic Indian war dance. This was followed by Star work. Cub Instructor Hillout teaching skipping, which test was passed by Bertie Vey. Baloo took the Tenderpads in knots, and the Cubs passing this test were Keith Rankin and Don McLeod with reef knot. John McLeod, George Haslam and Kenneth Crookston, reef knot and clove hitch. George Corbett and Leon Camous passed in signaling in preparation for their second star. Baloo read from Wolf Cub's Handbook about "Brownies and Boggarts" and "Good Turns." The troop has invited the Pack to a bun feed at headquarters on Friday, November 29, at 6 o'clock.

St. Paul's Pack—Much progress was made in first and second star work. William Mitchell and John Monckton passed their knots and hygiene. Games of "cluster hockey" and annual trains were played. A duty patrol was formed, the Grey Wolves being chosen for this week. A very welcome visitor, Miss Hughes, from St. Saviour's Pack, was present during the meeting.

St. Paul's Troop—On Wednesday Signaler Williams from the Naval Barracks gave instruction in semaphore and afterwards an exhibition of his quick semaphore can be seen if you know your job and are in a hurry. Next Wednesday he will take all those desirous of passing their first class signaling test, and Wednesdays thereafter will be given to instruction for the signalers' badge. At the last meeting of the Court of Honor it was decided that the Woodpecker patrol concentrate on the Pathfinder's badge, the Quails on the cyclist badge and the Seagulls and Curlews on the fireman's badge, while the troop as a whole concentrate on signaling.

St. Mary's North—The last Pack meeting was in charge of Cub Instructor John Gornall, during the absence of Akela. After the opening howl, inspection and flag ceremony he gave the Cubs a game and then dismissed the recruits and Tenderpads. The first star Cubs stayed for instruction on their second star tests. Notice was given of the Cub swimming at the Crystal Garden between the hours of 8 and 6 on Thursday afternoon. It is hoped that as many Cubs as possible will take advantage of this privilege, which is extended to all Scouts and Cubs of Victoria district by the management of the Crystal Garden.

Oaklands Pack—First and second star work was carried out by Cub Instructor John Anderson and the sixer, while Akela took the new recruits on the Cub laws and promise. A stirring game of scalp hunting was keenly enjoyed. Akela gave a short talk on care of the teeth, correct breathing, etc. Cubes Douglas Smith and Tony Grimston received their first year's service stars. The usual ten minutes was given to reading from the Wolf Patrol.

INSTANTLY KILLED

ABBOTSFORD, Nov. 26.—Robert Banks, 42-year-old man, who was killed by a piece of wood from a machine, striking him in the stomach.

Noted Actor Shows Kindly Disposition

When Sir John Martin Harvey and his company were in Saskatoon on their present tour of Canada, an incident, showing the thoughtfulness of the great actor, occurred after one of his performances. In one of the boxes were three sisters, one of whom was a permanent invalid who had to be conveyed to the theatre in an ambulance. Sir John was quick to recognize the disability of one of his audience, and when the final curtain was rung down he and Lady Harvey made their way to the box and chatted for some time with the invalid. It was the first theatrical performance the invalid had attended in many years and it proved a red letter day in her life.

What is courage? Commander Sheelton April, at a college speech day attempted a definition. He said: "The dictionary does not help us much in defining courage. Personally the definition I would give is that courage is the doing of something we are afraid to do."

Foresters and Keating to Clash at "Y" Gym for Leadership of "C" Section of City League

AXIOMS TO MEET FIDELIS SQUAD

Foresters and Keating, of the men's senior "C" division of the City Basketball League, who are riding the same trail towards the section championship, will meet tonight at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium in what is expected to be one of the most crucial cage fixtures of the season.

The lodgement have yet to taste defeat and have won four starts, while the suburbanites have dropped one match in five starts, thus putting both teams on an even standing basis in the league. A win for either team will put them in undisputed first berth. The quietest are evenly balanced, with some of the classiest ball handlers in the city on their line-ups.

Another game that will create a lot of interest will be the Fidelis-Axioms affair in the women's "B" division. The former haven't taken a setback for so long they don't know what it feels like, while the latter have been knocking at the door of city championships for the past few years and each time have failed by a few points.

The third game will bring together J.B.A.A. and Keating in a senior "B" fixture. Alan Le Marquand will handle all games. The first game will start at 7:30 o'clock, the second at 8:15 and the third at 9:00.

ALBIE DAVIES TO BATTLE BURGESS

Local Featherweight Will Oppose Vancouver Glove Thrower in Ten-Round Mix on Dec. 7

After a five-month layoff, Albie Davies, local featherweight, has been matched with Tommy Burgess, Vancouver glove thrower, for a ten-round main event of the Victoria Boxing Club's cauliflower show here on Saturday, December 7.

Burgess, a former resident of this city, showed here about two years ago against Tommy Fielding, and gained a draw. He has been practically idle since that time, but has been keeping in shape.

Albie Davies, although he has not been engaged in ring battles, has been keeping himself in good condition. Cool, clever and with a good knowledge of the game, he should be able to take the measure of his Mainland opponent. However, in his first and only mix here, Burgess showed that he is a shifty and clever glove thrower, and knows something about the fight racket.

DANN RUTH HAS HIS HANDS FULL CUTTING.

GETTING A LITTLE THIN ON TOP OLE BOY!

THAT AINT WHATS WORTHY! HE'S THE WHITE ONES!

By AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Like all other athletes, Babe Ruth has a horror of getting grey, for a white patch is usually associated with age and even to be thought old by the fans is a constant source of worry to the average ball player. A few great ball players at the height of their careers like Tris Speaker, Honus Wagner, Joe Dugan, Larry Doyle, George Witale and others, openly paraded their hoary pates without shame or before the fans. Many others dye their hair but Ruth has the tell-tale white ones pulled out.

"The last time I had my trainer pull 'em out he got forty-six," said Babe, "but I'm going to keep pulling 'em out if I get bald-headed."

"If I don't all I'd need is a trick collar and people would think I was Judge Landis."

HAMILTON TO BE ASKED TO VISIT WEST

Regina Roughriders Will Ask Bengals to Make Tour Next Fall—Prairie Squad Off Tomorrow

REGINA, Nov. 26.—Invading the stronghold of Mike Rodden's Hamilton Tigers Saturday the Regina Roughriders will make another bid for Dominion football honors. They also will attempt to entice the famous Bengals to journey westward early next fall for an exhibition series with Prairie teams.

EASTERN CHAMPS SET FOR TITLE GAME

REGINA, Nov. 26.—Invading the stronghold of Mike Rodden's Hamilton Tigers Saturday the Regina Roughriders will make another bid for Dominion football honors. They also will attempt to entice the famous Bengals to journey westward early next fall for an exhibition series with Prairie teams.

Twenty strong, the Riders head for the East tomorrow morning, arriving in Hamilton Friday morning. Nineteen gridirers are ready to do battle with the bruising Eastern Bengals, the twentieth—"Dynamite" Eddie James—is willing to try, but he may not get more than a few minutes in the fray. An injured shoulder, suffered in the Western final against Calgary, has kept James out of practice and it may keep him away from the Tigers.

Regina officials will propose to the Tiger management that the Eastern title may make a tour of the Prairies next fall, playing at Winnipeg, Regina and Calgary. The Bengals last played in the West in 1921.

BENGALS ALL READY

TORONTO, Nov. 26.—Having come through their game with Queen's University last Saturday without any injuries record, the Hamilton Tigers, Eastern Canada football champions, started practicing today for the game with Regina Roughriders for the Canadian title.

A feature of Tiger practice this week will be the perfection of the modified forward pass which will be used in Saturday's game.

BOXING DUKES OPEN HEARTS

New York Commission Decides to Allow Champions to Indulge in Nontitle Bout in State

MAXIE ROSENBLUM REMOVED FROM LIST

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The spirit of Christmas was in the air today as the New York State athletic commission prepared a surprise gift package for the boxing business.

Stod a bit hesitant about details, the sons of sock announced that within a week or two official announcement would be made that in the future fight champions would be permitted to box in New York State occasionally without having to defend their title every time they step within a ring. For years one of the rules has been the edict that a champion must fight here only at title weight and with his crown in jeopardy.

The commission is firm, however, in its determination to force champions to defend their titles against worthy challengers at least twice a year.

The commission decided today that the defeat of Maxie Rosenbloom by Jimmy Slattery in Buffalo last night removed the slapstick star from the ranks of the "big four," named to fight for the vacant 175-pound crown. Slattery now takes his place with Yale O'Neil, Lou Siroza and George Courtney as the battlers who must fight it out for recognition here as the new light-heavyweight champion.

HOCKING AND RAYMENT WILL MEET TONIGHT

Two Strong Aspirants for Singles Badminton Title of Garrison Club to Play at Armories

SEMI-FINALISTS WILL BE NAMED

The semi-finals of all the open events in the Garrison Badminton Club championships, which have been in progress at the Armories for the past week, will be reached tonight.

Matches in all open events will start at 7:30 o'clock and continue until 10 p.m. It is the intention of the officials in charge of the tournament to have all semi-finalists named by Friday evening so that the championships will be decided Saturday afternoon and evening.

As such a large number of players entered the handicap singles, mixed, men's and women's doubles, all competitors are asked to be present tonight and be prepared to play at short notice. Matches will be arranged as the courts become available.

Ross "Bud" Hocking, strong aspirant for the men's singles title and who has scraped through two tight corners in his matches to date, will have plenty of opposition tonight when he stacks up against G. Hugo Rayment, the club captain. Rayment has ousted all opponents and if he continues to wield his racket as he has done in previous matches, Hocking may meet his Waterloo.

Several other close struggles are expected as the draw brings together some of the strongest members of the club.

The draw and starting times follow:

7:30 p.m.—Flett vs. Woods, Rayment vs. Hocking, Miss Miller vs. Miss P. Oates, Mrs. Tingley vs. Miss Nicholson, Mrs. Tremaine and Miss H. Wilson vs. Mrs. Gillespie and Miss Porritt.

BILLIARDS

Britannia Branch's squad of curlers threw a wrench into the "A" section championship hopes of the Pro Patria representatives in the Inter-Service Billiard League last night, when they completely upset the dope and came through with a brilliant victory by a 513-457 score.

R. was the Branch's first win and shifted his activities to the water; Miss Betty Carstairs, British sports-woman, who challenged unsuccessfully on two previous occasions; the Italian speed king, Prince Carlo Russpoli, of Venice, and Marquis Dal Pozzo, of Milan, all expect to enter the race at Detroit next August 28, 29, 30 and September 2, Mr. Barrett said.

"The English, through the exploits of Segrave and their Schneider Cup flyers, now enjoy world supremacy in speed on the land and in the air," he remarked.

"They are particularly anxious to extend their sway and demonstrate that Britannia also rules the waves."

Gar Wood, of Detroit, present holder of the Harnsworth Trophy, expects to have two boats for its defence—Miss America VIII, which set the present world record of more than ninety-three miles per hour, and a new Miss America, which has not yet been built. James Talbot, Jr., Los Angeles, may also enter.

Adams played at shortstop and second base with the Pirates in 1928, but was used only infrequently in the Pirate infield last season.

English Speed King Expected to Be Among Four European Entrants for Harnsworth Trophy

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Four European motorboat racers are preparing to invade the United States next year in an attempt to capture the Harnsworth Trophy, J. Lee Barrett, of Detroit, announced today on returning from the conference of the International Motor Yachting Union, at which he represented this country and Canada.

Sir Henry Segrave, of England, holder of the world's straightaway automobile speed record, who has shifted his activities to the water; Miss Betty Carstairs, British sports-woman, who challenged unsuccessfully on two previous occasions; the Italian speed king, Prince Carlo Russpoli, of Venice, and Marquis Dal Pozzo, of Milan, all expect to enter the race at Detroit next August 28, 29, 30 and September 2, Mr. Barrett said.

By their one-sided victory over the Army and Navy No. 1 squad, Pro Patria No. 1 team carried a triple tie for first place in the "B" section of the Inter-Service League. The Pals came through in all four games and are expected to be strong contenders for the honors. It was the first setback of the season for the Army and Navy team. The scores follow:

Whole Left Side Is Braced for Hit

IF YOU HIT AGAINST BRACED LEFT LEG THEY'LL CRASH SIDE MUST COME AROUND INTO STRIKE.

By SOL METZGER
Good golf instructors tell me, and fine golf players prove it by their swings, that the whole left side must brace as the downslope starts. They secure this brace by jamming the left leg to the ground and straightening the left leg as they start the club down. This in turn locks the left hip.

When this left side brace is not so secured the right side will not come around, as they hit through with the straight right arm, as Barnes and Sarazen are shown doing in the sketches.

When this left side brace is not so secured the right side will not come around. Instead, your left hip will swing back and your left leg sag at the knee. Either result spoils the shot by causing a sagging of the body or a pull in of the club-head as it comes into the ball. Hence so much slicing.

JUST LIKE A WOMAN

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

A youth with a large mouth walked into a music shop to purchase a mouth organ. He was shown every make of mouth organ in the shop, but still was not satisfied. "Look here," said the assistant, "we shall have to measure you for one. Just try your mouth along this piano."

The lady was waiting to buy a ticket at the pictures when a stranger elbowed his way past her. She glared at him, feeling it was done intentionally. "Well," he growled, "don't eat me up." "You are in no danger," was the reply. "I am a Jewess."

CHAPTER XXI

Forbes hung up too and left the booth. Then he sat down in one of the big armchairs in the lobby. The first thing to find out was the number of Forbes's apartment, and the obvious way would be to ask the clerk. But Forbes was no ordinary transient guest here. A man as rich as he was, and permanently domiciled here, would have special defences. The better way would be to drift into casual talk with somebody, a bell-hop or the girl who sold theatre tickets, lead up to his question, and ask it idly.

But it wasn't so easy as it looked, to frame that question so it would sound casual. And, if his question roused suspicion, he'd be worse off than if he'd gone straight to the clerk in the first place.

His gaze was questioning about the lobby, noting everything that the body did, studying faces in the hope of finding one dull and friendly and unassuming enough to suit his purpose.

The man who had just come down in one of the elevators and now stood talking to the captain hadn't a face like that; very much the contrary, in fact. In his double-breasted blue serge suit he looked like the house detective.

Martin kept staring at him, regardless of the risk of catching his eye, until, in his own mind's eye, he had put a derby hat on his head and a brown overcoat on his back and a little leather notebook in his hand, and recognized him. He was the man who had come to Rhoda's apartment last night, getting names for the new city directory. And this identification led to another. This was the man whose voice he had just now been trying to remember, the man on the telephone who had been pretending he was Forbes.

He hadn't wasted any time getting downstairs from Forbes's apartment, and the action, following so closely on their telephone conversation, had to Martin the look of spring directly from it. It seemed a reasonable guess that the instructions Blue Serge was giving the captain were that any person asking questions about C. J. Forbes or trying to get through to him was to be dealt with in a special manner.

Satisfied that the captain understood these instructions, whatever they were, Blue Serge crossed the lobby to the desk. Here his business was not with the clerk but with the manager.

Leaving the desk, the man in the blue serge suit now started across the lobby in a new direction; one that would bring him, unless he veered off, uncomfortably close to Martin's chair. But before this embarrassment became acute he was diverted by one of the bell-boys who crossed his path. The boy seemed unaware of him, but Blue Serge, after a sharp look, went back to the desk, summoned the manager again, brought him out into the lobby a little way, and nodded after the boy. Then he disappeared into an elevator.

Martin sat still, not quite sure whether he was wasting time or whether things were really coming into focus. It was worth waiting another minute for, he decided. But he didn't have to wait. The last scene of the swift little pantomime folio ended immediately.

The manager, returning to his office, paused for a word to the bell captain. The bell captain spoke to the boy Blue Serge had pointed out. The boy, with a look of surprise, went into the manager's office to come out, a minute or two later, flushed, indignant, and, without, profoundly puzzled. Something had happened to him that he seemed utterly at a loss to account for; discipline, evidently, that he felt to be undeserved. He was coming along slowly in Martin's direction. That was luck.

"I don't feel up to it"

CONSTIPATION STEALS YOUR ENERGY

How many times do you refuse invitations or shun away from work with the admission "I don't feel up to it?"

Constipation is the greatest single cause of the depressing feeling of not being "up to things." Inadvertently it clogs the body with poisons which sap the vitality, dull the enjoyment and lower the efficiency.

Quaker Tillson's natural Bran corrects constipation.

Health authorities everywhere recommend bran—in its natural state—as the most effective laxative food you can use. Quaker Tillson's natural Bran comes to you just as Nature produced it. It is neither cooked, treated, nor mixed with other foods, simply cleaned and sterilized. All its natural "roughage" qualities are retained. Won't you begin tomorrow to get your daily "roughage ration"? Eat natural bran in muffins or bread. You'll find them most delicious and healthful. Now offered in a new, handy package with simple recipes for delicious bran baking enclosed.

BRAN

There was a service door of some sort right beside his chair. That was luck, for it wasn't until the boy was in the act of passing his chair that the significance of the little play clicked into a pattern in Martin's mind. That boy had seen something. He possessed, probably without suspecting it, some piece of damaging information, and they'd taken measures to prevent his giving that information away. Probably discharged him. Laid him off on a fictitious pretense.

If this was a good guess, Martin had something to tell him. He rose from his chair just when his doing so intercepted the boy's progress toward the door.

By that time Martin had moved from his chair to where one of the great square pillars of the lobby cut off the view of the desk. The boy followed him uncertainly and asked, "What made you think I was looking for you?"

Martin took the plunge. "If they just laid you off," he said, "I think I can tell you why they did. Who's the hatchet-faced man in the blue serge suit who works for Forbes?" He pointed you out to the manager.

"Do you mean Conley? I haven't done anything to him. Say, who are you? How do you know they laid me off?"

"Conley," expecting a reporter around here in a few minutes, a reporter who's trying to find out about the disappearance of a girl. Conley knows more about it than he wants to tell, and he doesn't want the reporter to find out anything. He had you laid off because he thought you knew something about her."

"I don't know anything about any girl that's disappeared," protested the boy. "Say, who are you?"

"The reporter Conley's expecting in about fifteen minutes. I got here before he was quite ready for me. Didn't you see a girl—a red-headed girl? Didn't you answer some questions of hers or take her somewhere?"

"Sure!" said the boy. "Forbes was expecting her. I took her up to the top floor, to the private elevator. Conley ran her up from there. But I didn't get fresh with her. She was a nice girl. She wouldn't have put in any complaint about me."

"Of course she didn't. That was just his excuse for laying you off. 'The dirty pup!'"

The boy's indignation was natural, but Martin hadn't time for it. "How do you know Forbes expected her?" he asked.

"Because we ran her right up the minute she gave her name. Miss White, it was. She didn't know Forbes owned the hotel and she seemed sort of scared when she found she was going up to that bungalow of his on the roof. Conley came down in the private elevator to take her up. And she kind of backed away when she saw him. But she rode up with him just the same."

"What time was this?"

"I don't know," said the boy. "It was after three, because that's when I came on duty. Say, don't think they're keeping her up there?"

Martin nodded. "I'm going up to see if she's there, anyhow."

"How you going to get?" the boy wanted to know. "The private elevator's locked up, except when they run it themselves. The only stair—except the service stair—comes down into Forbes's office on the top floor. That's all locked up now. The service stair would take you right up into the pantry, and they'll be serving his dinner just about now. I don't believe you can get up. If they don't want you to. They say the old man's scared to death someone will get him, sometime."

"How about the fire-escape?" Martin asked.

"There's a fire-escape landing outside and the window right at the end of the corridor on the top floor. And there's a steel ladder goes up from there that curves over the sort of stone railing at the edge of the main roof. I've never been up there, but one of the other boys told me about it. The ladder don't exactly lead anywhere, because the building don't come out to the edge of the building. It's set back, now, so there's a runway all around it. He said the windows were too high to see into, but maybe there's some way you can climb up. Or perhaps there's a door—though it would probably be locked. And that ladder must be pretty scary, climbing right up over the edge of nothing."

Martin reached into his pocket for the tip the boy had so well earned, and his fingers closed upon the one limp dollar bill which was practically all that was left of the money he'd borrowed of Babe that afternoon. Penniless against Well, it couldn't be helped.

"Say," said the boy as Martin held out the dollar, "are you doing all this to get a piece for the paper?"

"No," Martin admitted, "the paper hasn't anything to do with this. She happens to be my girl."

"Goah," said the boy. "I don't want you're going up to get her. I don't want the money. I'd like to help, if I could."

So Martin shook hands with him, instead, and walked away, with the best air of unconcern he could assume, to the elevators.

The captain was busy trying to explain something to a dull guest.

"As far as you go," Martin said in response to an inquiring glance from the elevator boy. He hoped the phrase would conceal his ignorance of the actual number of the top floor, and it did. He perceived, though, that even the briefest hesitation on his part when he stepped out of the elevator at the top would be fatal to his plan. The boy would ask him whose room he was looking for. He must choose in advance which way to turn. Very well, he'd turn to the right.

The car stopped, the boy opened the door, and Martin walked out and made his precalculated turn.

It seemed at first that he had made a bad guess, for he found himself walking straight toward a partition of glass and oak with a door in the middle of it marked "C. J. Forbes." There were the offices. But the door was ajar and there was a light inside. The elevator hadn't started down. The operator was certainly watching him. The only thing he could possibly do was to push open the door and walk in and see what happened after that.
